Italian Consulate at Capital Scene of Tragic Blast

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, May 23.—Nine persons were killed outright and 41 are known to have been injured in a bomb explosion in the passport bureau on the main floor of the new Italian consulate shortly before noon today.

While it was thought that anti-Fascists might have been responsible for the explosion, the police had no clue to the perpetrator of the outrage and were in the dark as to its origin, as there has been no anti-Italian sentiment manifest in recent months.

CENSORSHIP PLANNED IN TORONTO THE GOOD

TORONTO, May 23.—A conference was held here yesterday between publishers, literary men and officers of the Toronto police department, including Chief D. C. After discussing the problem, it was decided to communicate with the dominion government asking them to select a committee to act for the entire dominion. In the event that the government cannot take this action an effort will be made to appoint a committee here.

The United States and England contribute most of the periodicals complained of, according to the local police.

DRIVER FOUND NOT GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER

Jury Deliberates 35 Minutes—Case Arose Over Death Mrs. McKay

Ralph Meier was acquitted by a jury in the criminal court on Tuesday afternoon of a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death, following an accident on the Fort Trail on March 30 last, of Mrs. Helen Lyle McKay. The verdict was returned after 35 minutes' deliberation.

His Lordship Chief Justice W. C. Simmons presided, and upon the delivery of the verdict said that while it was not his custom to make any comment on a verdict returned by a jury, he could not help doing so in this case, as his finding had been exactly the opposite.

"Unless a real lesson is taught to reckless drivers, it will not be safe for any one to walk," commented his Lordship.

Mrs. McKay was struck about 4:30 p.m. on March 30 while crossing the Fort Trail, by an automobile driven by accused.

Evidence was given to show that accused had tried to avoid striking Mrs. McKay, and police officers had testified that after making tests with the automobile in question, the brakes had been found defective, the steering gear over-stiff, and an eight-inch latitude in the front wheels.

The jury was composed of J. L. Abbott, Tofield; John D. Borwick, Tofield; W. A. Butcher, J. W. Bishop, R. J. Talbot, and P. J. Boyle, all of Edmonton.

Edward B. Cogswell, K.C., prosecuted, and W. R. Howson defended.

TWO ROBBERS, ARMED, RIFLE LEDUC STORES

Clerk Forced to Put Hands in Air While Yeggs Continue Thefts

Held up at the point of a gun by two robbers whom he interrupted while in the act of rifling the till in the Munro Drug Store, Leduc, early Wednesday morning, Pete Shewchuk, clerk in the store, was forced to stand by while the men smashed the till and obtained $10.

Shewchuk was held in the store by one of the men, who were angry because they did not obtain more money, the other robber made his way to the Leduc Hardware store, smashed his way through a rear door and took about $8 from the till.

The man then broke into the premises of the Star garage and obtained between $8 and $10 in small change from the cash box.

Speed Toward Edmonton

When he was through he went back to the Munro Drug Store, where his partner still was holding Shewchuk at the point of his gun. The two backed out of the premises and went into the lane where their car was parked, and speeded toward Edmonton.

Provincial police headquarters at Edmonton were informed of the hold-up and a watch was immediately made on the Calgary highway leading into Edmonton, but the car did not reach the city, leading officers to believe that the robbers doubled back in the opposite direction.

Shewchuk had been in Edmonton Tuesday and returned to Leduc by car. His sleeping quarters were in the rear of the store and when he opened the front door he found the men at work at the till. He was ordered to "put 'em up" and he complied and was forced to stay in this position until the second robber had returned from the Star garage.

FOREST FIRES ARE IN HAND; RANGERS BUSY

Drader Sawmill Saved — Little More Damage Expected

Rain which fell in the Edmonton district did not go farther west than Evansburg, according to information which reached Col. R. H. Palmer, D.S.O., chief fire ranger, on Wednesday, while none fell at Green court. Thus the fire hazard to the west and north of the city has not been improved.

Late reports indicated new columns of smoke had been seen in the McLeod lake area, but whether any further serious outbreak of fire had occurred had not been determined.

Fire, which has been burning in the Winfield-Breton area, west of Leduc, since Friday, has been brought under control, according to reports which reached the office of Chief Fire Ranger Col. R. H. Palmer, D.S.O., Wednesday, from Ranger John Bowman, in charge of the fire-fighters. The heavy storm which broke over the Edmonton district late Tuesday afternoon extended as far as the fire-swept area and sufficient rain fell to turn the balance of the fight in favor of the ranger and his assistants.

The fire broke out last Friday and at first was confinend principally to grass. Ranger Bowman, taking no chances, wired headquarters for additional equipment and a pump was allotted him from Buck Lake. The fire soon spread so that it was burning in six sections of land, but was not considered dangerous.

Mill is Saved

On Tuesday some timber was caught in the path of the fire about one mile from Winfield and fanned by a high wind, started in the direction of the Drader sawmill. Ranger Bowman mobilized his forces and put up a

Interned Doctor Gets $15,000 Reparations

By Bulletin Staff Correspondent

OTTAWA, May 23. — When the Germans captured Dr. H. S. Beland, a Canadian physician, at Antwerp early in the war, they found he was British and refused him passports out of the country unless he would undertake never to serve against the German emperor. Dr. Beland, sooner than make such a promise, spent three years as a prisoner in a German fortress, and as a result his health was seriously impaired.

Commissioner Pugsley awarded him $32,000 reparations, but Commissioner Friel cut this to $1,700. Therefore Dr. Beland, who later became minister of D. S. C. R., put in a claim for health impairment with reports from eminent physicians. On this ground he has been awarded $15,000 additional to his $1,700.

The program at each school included the singing of the National Anthem and the saluting of the flag. The history of the flag was explained to the students by the teachers.

Empire Day was celebrated Wednesday by the children of the Edmonton separate schools by an entirely Canadian program. Starting at 2:30 p.m. in the primary schools throughout the city, the children opened the ceremonies with the singing of "O Canada." They then saluted the flag with becoming drills and songs. Speeches were delivered by older children and at nearly all the schools pageants commemorative of Canadian history were presented.

TOKIO, May 23—Violent fighting at the city of Hokien, important strategic point 100 miles south of Peking, was reported in advices from Chihli today, the nationalists finally being driven to the south with the northern Shantung army in pursuit.

Faced with the critical situation caused by the capture of Hokien, the main army of Sun Chuan-Fang, commander of the northern troops in Shantung, opened a terrific offensive. "I was astounded and stunned to read in the papers the statements of Mr. Coldwell," Mr. McMurray said. "I denied and welcomed the opportunity of coming before this committee and clearing away the charge. I was glad to read the denial of the minister of immigration. What he said was true. I have had no dealings with Mr. Forke since he has been in office."

Farmers of East and West Will Co-operate

WOODSTOCK, Ont., May 23.—Cooperation between the farmers of eastern and western Canada for their mutual benefit was stressed by a prominent westerner, John H. Wesson of Regina, at a large gathering of the Oxford county farmers, here yesterday. The meeting was held primarily for the purpose of organizing a grain pool in Oxford county, as part of a province-wide organization.

Clearing house figures again indicate Edmonton's growing prosperity. This week's figures show an increase of nearly one and on-quarter million dollars over the corresponding period of last year. The clearings amounted to $5,877,862.72, while in the same week last year they amounted to $4,698,623.45.

GOES FAR TO WED

Thelma Clumeck met Bert W. Levitt, attorney in San Francisco, and they decided to wed. First, however, Miss Clumeck wanted to visit her parents in Singapore. Returning from Singapore, after a 10,000-mile trip, she discovered she had to go a few thousand miles farther to be married since the British quota was filled and her entry denied. A marriage in Canada was planned, so Miss Clumeck can return to the United States as the wife of an American citizen.

ITALIAN AIRSHIP OFF ON NEW POLE HOP

KING'S BAY, Spitzbergen, May 23.—The dirigible Italia started northward at 4:40 a.m. today across the Polar ice-cap, with the north pole, some 750 miles away, as its objective. General Umberto Nobile, commander of the expedition, hoped to land at the pole itself to make explorations and to plant a cross given him by Pope Pius.

This cross was blessed and kissed by Father Safranchi, the priest of the expedition, just before the start was made. The crew of the Italia witnessed the ceremony.

General Nobile had hoped to get away on his third trip over Polar regions just before midnight. He was delayed because of the necessity of making a few minor repairs. The present expedition is expected to last from 30 to 40 hours.

On May 11, General Nobile made his first attempt to penetrate into Polar regions in the Italia, but returned to King's Bay after seven hours because of bad weather conditions.

On May 15, he started a flight to Lenin Land, returning to King's Bay, and returned on May 18 after a flight of 68 hours without seeing any new land.

Lindy Accepts Full Time Aviation Post

NEW YORK, May 23.—Colonel Charles Lindbergh has decided to enter the commercial aeroplane field and has accepted a "full time job" as chairman of the technical committee of the recently formed Transcontinental Air Transport Service. He is to assume his post at once, and will take charge of putting into operation the rail and plane service between New York and the Pacific coast, which the Pennsylvania railroad, the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe, the Wright Aero corpooratio, the Curtiss Aero and Motor corporation and the National Air Transport have co-operated in forming.

Colonel Lindbergh will have supervision "over all matters concerning choice of equipment, field general service, flying routes and safety appliances."

Ex-Altar Boy Says He Robbed Church

OTTAWA, May 23—Napoleon Lavigne, former altar boy, has confessed that he broke into St. Paul's church, Aylmer, two years ago, and stole three golden challices, two solid silver ciboria and a gold pyx valued at more than $3,500, police declare. Lavigne does not remember what he did with $500 worth of pearls and rubies removed from the base of one of the sacred vessels.

The city of Strasbourg is the capital of the province of Alsace.

WEIRD AUTO MAY BE HELP TO AVIATION

BERLIN, May 23.—The "Opel rocket car," propelled forward by explosion of rockets placed in the rear of the machine, was demonstrated here today by Fritz Von Opel, attaining a speed of approximately 100 miles an hour.

The car started with a terrific roar, emitting a sheet of flame and yellow smoke as successive rockets exploded.

Von Opel said the machine was not intended to revolutionize motoring, but was a step toward solution of the problem of flying at a terrific speed through high altitude with the object of making a flight between Europe and America within a few hours or encircling the earth within a day. A motor-driven airplane, he said, ceased to be effective at highest altitude because of inability to carry enough oxygen.

No attempt was made to attain maximum speed, but an effort will be made next month on a railway stretch with a car on rails to shatter speed records.

Von Opel recently said that during a trial with a driverless motor car, 430 miles an hour was attained for a few seconds.

He is of the opinion that there is practically no limit to the speed which could be reached by the new machine.

Fuses are connected with the pipes and are linked up on an auto switchboard and are controlled from the driver's seat. The rockets are discharged by means of an electric spark and a sheet of flame bursts out from behind the car, which shoots off at a terrific speed, enveloped in a cloud of smoke.

The drawback to the new invention is that each rocket costs a small fortune.

"Claims due only to general war conditions and operations of war where no direct enemy action was disclosed have been disallowed. The Halifax explosion, December 6, 1917, was due to the collision of a French steamer loaded with deadly explosives with a Belgian relief steamer. No participation of the enemy in any way in this dreadful disaster was ever shown.

Sports Days Planned in Viking District

Exclusive to Bulletin

The day's program will include procession headed by the band; platform program, May Queen crowning ceremony, Maypole dance, flag drill, address by Hon. Geo. Hoadley, on "Alberta's Present Prospects," sports program, baseball, basketball and group games for children, ending up with a moving picture show in the evening. The Festival is sponsored by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the United church.

S. Stenberg, a pioneer of this district, died at Bering, Oregon, at the age of 71 years. He homesteaded three miles south of town in 1906, together with four sons, all of whom took homesteads. He removed to the coast a few years ago.

Jarrow is holding a big sports day on June 4, when baseball and bucking contests will be featured, a dance following the day's sports as a wind-up.

Irma is holding a big sports day on June 13, when baseball teams will compete for a $150 purse. Other sports will include horse jumping, foot races, etc. The Viking Elks' band has been engaged for the day.

District Deputy Grand Exalted Ruler W. H. Heller, of Edmonton, paid an official visit to Viking B. P. O. E. Lodge, No. 83, on Thursday, and assisted in initiation ceremonies. His talk on Elkdom was greatly appreciated by the Viking Lodge, which is having a healthy steady growth since its institution a year ago, the membership now being over 80, with more coming in.

The Wainwright Dramatic Club will present their farce comedy, "The Arrival of Kitty," in Viking on June 6, under the auspices of the local Women's Institute, the proceeds to go to the Junior Red Cross of Alberta.

The Viking Elks will stage a mammoth baseball tournament on June 6, with six teams competing for a purse of $200.

Viking will commence their weekly half-holidays on May 30, continuing through June and July and one week in August.

Viking defeated Vegreville in a game of ball here last night to the tune of 11 to 5. Whitford on the mound for Vegreville was hit freely, while Wilkie, pitching for Viking, was in fine form for five innings, when two recruit pitchers were given a chance to show their stuff against the visitors, with good results. Viking is taking part in a tournament at Vegreville on May 24.

The Viking Agricultural Society has chosen July 2 as the date for their annual sports and is now making preparations for the biggest day in the history of the district.

EX-MOUNTIES ASK INCREASE IN PENSIONS

Bulletin Staff Correspondent

OTTAWA, May 23.—J. D. Dickenson, of the R.N.W.M.P. Veterans' association, Edmonton, waited on the minister of justice, Hon. Charles Stewart and Commissioner Starnes, R.C.M.P., with a plea for more generous consideration for the police pensioners and widows of former R.N.W.M.P. officers.

Many of the pensioners are getting on in years, it was stated, and their pensions at rates fixed when police pay was small and the cost of living lighter are insufficient under today's conditions to provide for them. It was pointed out that the increase would only involve an annual expenditure of $21,000, being $8,000 of an increase for officer pensioners and $13,000 for N.C.O.'s and men. The government will take the matter into consideration and while nothing can be done at the present session of parliament action may be taken next year for a more equitable scale of pensions for the men who gave their youth and manhood to the service of the great west in its pioneer days.

The game in the Gyro soft ball league which was postponed last night will not be played tonight, the regular scheduled game between Scona Centre and the Navy taking place at seven o'clock on the King Edward School grounds.

A car owned by Dan A. Fazan, 11716 100th avenue, was stolen from 100th street and 101A avenue at 9 p.m., Tuesday and has not been recovered, according to city police report.

Cars operated by Frank E. Atkinson, Queen's hotel, and Joseph Jacques, Jesuit college, crashed at 105th street and Jasper Tuesday afternoon. Both cars were considerably damaged, Mr. Atkinson' machine being turned completely around in the smash.

Driving the city health department ambulance across the High Level bridge at 7:45 p.m. Tuesday, Sidney A. Main, 9836 85th avenue, crashed into the rear of another car. The front of the ambulance was damaged.

City firemen extinguished two fires Tuesday evening. One alarm was for a blazing shed at 94th street and 111th avenue, which was extinguished in a few minutes, and the other for a barn at 9946 82nd avenue. Little damage was done.

The Banff-Windermere highway is now open and is in perfect condition for tourist traffic, according to a late report from the Alberta Automobile and Good Roads Association.

Bird's Eye View of Edmonton Reveals Fine, Orderly City

Edmonton from the air may not look as big as Edmonton from the ground, but "it looks a jolly sight neater' to Mayor A. U. G. Bury who took his first aeroplane flight in the Stinson-Detroiter Purple Label air-liner of the New Edmonton Breweries on Monday afternoon, and was impressed by the birds-eye view of his own bailiwick.

"You get a different idea of things altogether from up aloft. I was struck with the neatness and orderliness in which the whole countryside was plotted out, and I came to the conclusion that the Edmonton district is more settled up than it appears to be when you are on the ground,' he said.

His Worship was taken on a wide swing around and over the city, and enjoyed his brief flip aloft.

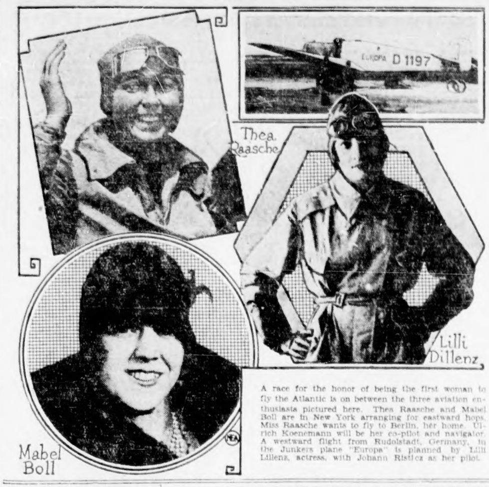
PLAN TO START OCEAN FLIGHTS



A race for the honor of being the first woman to fly the Atlantic is on between the three aviation enthusiasts pictured here. Thea Raasche and Mabel Boll are in New York arranging for eastward hops. POWER OFFER CONSIDERATION IS DELAYED

Offers received by the city for the electric light and power utility are not likely to be considered for the next two or three weeks, Mayor A. U. G. Bury informed C. J. Yorath, president of the Midwest Utilities Ltd., which is among the companies submitting offers, when the latter called at the city hall Tuesday.

Although the city has been informed that two and possibly three other offers will be made in due course, nothing further has been received at the city offices, and the report of the whole power situation, with an analysis of the offers already in, which has been asked for by the aldermen, has not yet been made by Superintendent Cunningham.

Mr. Yorath is on his way to New York for a two weeks' business trip, and as he is anxious to be in Edmonton when the offers are being considered by the council, desired to know if there was any likelihood of the matter coming before the aldermanic board during his absence.

The Calgary Power Co., Ltd., which has also submitted two alternative offers for the city utility, and which has just signed a ten year contract with the city of Calgary along the lines of one of the offers submitted to Edmonton, is preparing for a big development of its Ghost River hydro power site immediately. The Calgary contract, which goes into effect on August 1, 1930, at the expiry of the present contract of the company with that city, has been approved by the Board of Public Utilities Commissioners for Alberta, and the development now contemplated to enable the company to serve all the cities and municipalities with which it has contracted, will cost in the neighborhood of $2,500,000. The present capacity of the Calgary Power Co., will be more than doubled under the work which is now starting

Spray River Water Flow to Be Checked

Careful check of the flow of water down the Spray River will be kept during the present year by the Alberta Research Council, according to an announcement made Tuesday by Premier J. E. Brownlee. Meter readings and photographic records will be kept so that further arguments may be advanced to the Dominion on the ceding of hydro-electric pewor development rights to the province.

The dominion is pressing for a minimum flow of 400 cubic feet per second, and the province will endeavor to find out the minimum flow which will not impair the scenic beauty to any extent.

Plans for Hospitals Must Be Submitted to Provincial Board

Following investigations of municipal hospital districts just prior to the last session of the legislature, and the resulting royal commissions, which in one instance made considerable criticism of the hospital in question from the point of view of design and cost, regulations under the Hospitals Act have been framed which now make it necessary to submit all plans to the Provincil Board of Health for approval.

The new regulations state that before any work is begun on the building of a new hospital or the alteration of an existing hospital, all plans and specifiactions, together with an estimate of the cost, for the building of, or addition to, or alteration in the hospital, shall be submitted to the Provincial Board of Health for its approval is given no work shall be commenced on the construction of any hospital."

The regulations also call for the submission of plans of the proposed site of a hospital, together with all roads or buildings abutting thereon or adjacent to the hospital, proposed well or other water supply, site for sewage disposal, and other facilities, and state that no site of less than two acres in extent will be considered unless under exceptional circumstances. The regulations are very drastic and cover a number of matters brought out before the commission.

EMPIRE DAY

The people of Edmonton, in common with Canadians generally, will celebrate Empire Day tomorrow with no less sense of its significance than at any time past, though probably with less demonstrativeness than in the stirring times of war. The passing years have done nothing to sap the foundations of the Empire, which is based upon the free adhesion of its widely scattered peoples. Time has brought about a change in the relations between its component parts. But that change has been constructive, not destructive. If there has come a clearer recognition of the self-dependence of each Dominion, there has come also a corresponding obligation to each to promote the welfare of the others and to maintain the solidarity of the whole structure. Enlightened self-interest demands of every resident of the Empire that he should cultivate pride in his citizenship in such a commonwealth, concern himself with the well-being of his fellow-citizens in every clime, and do what he may to strengthen and stabilize the great political organism which stands for their mutual protection.

The Empire at peace is no less a factor in world affairs, and no less entitled to the affection of its citizens, then the Empire at war. In unity there was strength when the rights of 'Britishers everywhere had to be fought for. In unity there is also strength when the problem is to protect them from the danger of having to fight for these rights. Empire citizenship gives more than security against injustice and conquest; it gives security against having to resist injustice and conquest. The world knows that to infringe upon the rights of residents of any fraction of the Empire is to challenge the combined strength of all its members. That knowledge gives to the British peoples protection against the menace of war such as they could not possibly possess as unrelated nations. And of all British countries, those which have the smallest populations and the greatest wealth of resources are the ones which most need that protection and should most highly value it. That is a phase of Empire relationship which Canadians may well ponder on Empire Day.

ANOTHER LEAGUE FOR PEACE

The substance of the reply to Mr. Kellogg's note is that the government of Great Britain approves the principle that war should be repudiated as a factor in national policy, and is prepared to join the other leading powers in negotiating a treaty which would have that effect. It states also that the governments of the British Dominions are in agreement on the principle and ready to enter into the proposed convention. The effect of this is to proclaim that the English-speaking nations are a unit in declaring that war should not be regarded as a legitimate and proper instrument or objective of national policy, and are prepared to pledge themselves to frame their policies without calculating on war as a possible means of attaining ends.

This does not of course guarantee that such a treaty will be made, but it strengthens the prospect more than a similar announcement from any other quarter could have done. The note from London was framed after a comparative study of Mr. Kellogg's proposals and the objections raised by the government of France. The opinion is offered that there are no differences between these which cannot be reconciled, and the note is very evidently worded with a view to helping toward their reconciliation. Britain is equally bound with France by the terms of the Versailles treaty and the Locarno pact. That the British ministers find no necessary conflict between the obligations of these existing treaties and the proposed convention will no doubt go a good way to reassure France that its right to protect itself—and to expect help if that is called for in accord with the existing treaties—will not be lessened by the proposed agreement.

In other quarters British influence should also count for something. Italy and Britain have been traditionally on a friendly footing for generations. Japan is a former ally of Britain. These two countries, with France, are the only remaining great powers whose adherence is needed to make the scheme practicable. Germany has already accepted the proposal, in principle. With the United States, the British Empire, France, Germany, Italy and Japan pledged to regard war as a forbidden means for promoting national aggrandisement, any other country which refused to fall in line would invite suspicion of its intentions, and could hardly in any case provide an outbreak of widely serious proportions.

PLAY SAFE!

Custom stronger than law has ordained that "the 24th" shall be known in the calendar of youth as fire-cracker day, when torpedoes, crackers, sky-rockets, and all sorts of noise-making, fire-throwing devices are the approved and permitted mediums for the expression of boyish enthusiasm. Tomorrow will be no exception to the rule, and should not be. Every boy is entitled to a chance to make a racket on Empire Day. It is a day worth making a noise about. It stands for something which the seniors sometimes fail to give sufficient emphasis. Perhaps the boy who shoots firecrackers tomorrow will be all the more ready on that account to shoot a rifle in the Empire's cause some years hence, should that have to be done.

But parents and others of maturer years will do well to make note of the fact that this has been a dry and a windy season, and that firecrackers sometimes start fires. Edmonton has lately had a series of disastrous fires, some of which developed into very serious proportions because of the dry weather and the wind. In the interests of the public safety therefore, the small boy should be instructed to hold his pyrotechnic displays in the wide open spaces of vacant lots, school grounds, parks, or other areas well removed from a patch of dry grass or an inflammable building. There are plenty of such open spaces in Edmonton, and no need whatever for taking chances on burning somebody's home or place of business by shooting firecrackers where fires are liable to result.

PROMPT ACTION COUNTS

The provincial police and all who aided them in any way did a good stroke of business in promptly rounding up the parties wanted for the attempt to rob a bank at Edberg. Thanks to energetic action on the part of both private parties and the police, the accused were given little or no chance to get away and were speedily lodged in the cells. Where such action follows closely upon the heels of a crime it tends strongly to make criminality unattractive and to give the public assurance that the law is an effective guardian of their lives and property. If no criminal escaped there would soon be few criminals.

An Old Fisherman

By EDGAR E. GUEST

He dropped into my office with a twinkle in his eye
And a smile of satisfaction which nobody could deny,
But I wondered as I saw him what he'd come to talk about,
When he said: "I'm here to tell you that it's time to go for trout."

Oh, this life of mine is busy—all that's left me is the dream,
And the voice of this old-timer had the ripple of a stream,
As he talked of spruce and hemlock and his cabin by the brook.
Spring had set his spirit dancing—I could tell it by his look.

"There are some who lose their tempers when a big one gets away,
But not I," said he, "I chuckle, for I've had a happy day,
And I like the fish to best me in the battle if he can
And I like to fight him fairly just to prove that I'm a man."

Though I had no time for leisure, I forgot my anxious care,
As a boy I sat and listened to the yarns he had to spin,
Which is usually what happens when a fisherman drops in.

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY

Diet Specialist and Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

Questions on Health and Diet Answered by Dr. McCoy, when addressed in care of The Edmonton Bulletin

SWOLLEN ANKLES

Many people are affected with a swelling of their ankles, but this swelling often extends up into the abdomen, or other portions of the body. In some cases this will be so severe as to press against the diaphragm, causing difficult breathing because of the interference with diaphragmatic action.

Dr. Frank McCoy

Dropsy is not a disease in itself, but a symptom caused by escaping fluid from the blood or lymph into the cavities of the body or under the skin. Probably the most common dropsical condition is that produced as a result of heart derangements. If there is a poor tone of the heart, there is a correspondingly poor tone in the whole circulatory system, and the blood serum will easily stagnate in different parts of the body, particularly in the extremities.

Another form of dropsy is produced by the kidneys not eliminating a large enough amount of liquid for the urine, and much is retained in the tissues. The progress of the swelling is similar to that caused by the heart derangement. Only a physician is able to distinguish between the two kinds of dropsical conditions. A careful examination is necessary to determine whether the circulation of blood is defective, or whether the stagnation of the lymphatic circulation is from the kidneys.

A form of dropsy less frequently met with is a water dropsy produced when the liver becomes engorged with toxic material.

The usual treatment for dropical persons is to administer a drug, such as digitalis, to hasten the interstitial blood flow or contract the small capillaries. On those cases that are not relieved, the swollen parts are punctured by an ordinary aspirating needle, with rubber tubing attached, which may be left in place for hours, thus draining away large amounts of fluid. This method of "tapping" is very frequently used in cases of abdominal dropsy.

While these methods may be permitted as an emergency treatment, I do not believe that any permanent good results unless the internal cause of the disorder is removed.

As dropsy is only a symptom, it will be necessary for a patient to have a very thorough examination made that he may be properly diagnosed. The original cause of this condition must be treated in the proper manner before any cure can be expected.

If any of my readers, who are troubled in this way, will give me a complete history of their case, and the report of the diagnosis of their physician, I will be glad to send some helpful suggestions regarding diet, exercise, and a suitable home treatment.

Question: H. B. J. writes: "Have catarrh very badly in the eyes, ears, nose and throat, also bothered with indigestion. Would like to try an orange diet if I thought it would benefit me, but I am so thin I am afraid to try the diet for fear of losing more weight. Would it help any to eliminate starches and sugars instead of taking the orange diet, or what would you advise?"

Answer: Do not be afraid of getting thinner on the orange juice fast, as it cannot hurt you in any way, but will surely bring rapid results in the cure of your catarrhal troubles. Afterward, leave out starches and sugars for a period of several months if you wish to entirely drain the system of all excess catarrhal mucus.

Question: Mrs. W. H. asks: "Which is the best salad dressing, mayonnaise or French dressing? I mean, from a dietetic viewpoint."

Answer: I do not recommend salad dressings of the ordinary kind which are made with vinegar or lemon. I have a special article on salad dressings that I will be glad to forward upon receipt of a stamped, addressed envelope. In the meantime, use olive oil on your salads.

Planetary Influences on This Day for All

Today is an inauspicious day. Do nothing of importance.

For Those Whose Birthday Is Today

If you were born on May 23 you are cultured and rather dualistic, with great mental energy, but inclined to be impetuous. This overhastiness may incur displeasure unless you are circumspect. Your best efforts would be expended in any work dealing with the stage or literature; or as physician, botanist or curator. The most favorable periods for attempting anything reasonable in nature where beneficial results are required are the summer of 1929, the winter of 1930, the spring of 1931 and the winter of 1932.

Douglas Fairbanks, Born May 23, 1883

An example of a person born on May 23 is Douglas Fairbanks, famous screen actor, whose chart reveals an enthusiastic, ambitious temperament, with a mentality more given to sketchy efforts than prolonged and involved thought. The moon gives much interest in home ties and a faithful love nature, and there is a strong idealism shown. The intuitive and sensitive nature is perhaps a little wanting in development and expression, according to aspects in the chart. Much physical strength is indicated and there are no unbalancing emotional disturbances or tragic aspects to the chart which would detract from the general sense of physical well-being. Activity of the physical faculties is perhaps the keynote of this chart. Another person born on this date is Dane Alighieri, Italian poet.

THURSDAY

If you were born on May 24 you may be subject to discrimination and complicity, but you have the ability to counteract this. You are possessed with natural wisdom, and if this is properly used, through study, you will surmount the many difficulties which will confront you. Your best efforts would be expended in any work dealing with sculpture or the stage, or as executive, mason, textile worker, traveling salesman or astronomer. The most favorable periods for attempting anything reasonable in nature where beneficial results are required are the spring of 1928, the summer and fall of 1929, the year 1930, the winter of 1931, the spring of 1932 and the winter of 1933.

Sir Arthur Wing Pinero, Born May 24, 1855

An example of a person born on May 24 is Sir Arthur Wing Pinero, famous English dramatist, whose chart reveals an imaginative, highly critical mind, fastidious in the extreme. A great deal of discreation, discrimination and careful thought are shown, and the subject would have every possible mental ability to make him fortunate in a worldly sense. Planetary relationships indicate favor from the public as well as assistance from personal friends. There is some tendency toward reserve shown, with the result that the subject would handle well matters involving secrecy or diplomacy. In fact, the horoscope is one which would indicate a highly fortunate career as a diplomat and the subject might have attained a very gratifying career in governmental work of that type had not the urge of the theatre been so strong.

How Much Do You Know?

How is your general knowledge? The Bulletin is running ten questions a day. How many can you answer? Test yourself and your friends on the basis:—Each question is worth ten marks. If you can answer all the ten questions, you rate 100 per cent in the quiz. If you can answer eight you rate 80 per cent. If you can answer four, you rate 40 per cent. How much do you know?

1. What is the "Vulgate"?
2. Who is the most famous living Canadian-born contralto?
3. What insect community is declared to be 50,000,000 years old?
4. What is the longest regularly conducted air-route in the world?
5. On what play by George Bernard Shaw was a famous musical comedy based?
6. What are the Blue Bonnets and the Woodbine?
7. What queen married a private soldier who was the son of a tobacconist?
8. What is a Rani?
9. Who is the "Tiger of France"?
10. Which Greek goddess was fabled to have been born of the foam of the sea?

Answers to these questions will be found on classified page.

Keeping Mentally Fit

By Joseph Jastrow, A.B., A.M., Ph.D., LL.D.

Professor of Psychology, University of Wisconsin, 1888 to 1927; now professor emeritus; lecturer in the New School for Social Research, New York City; past president of the American Psychological Association.

CULTIVATED STUPIDITY

A journalist who wanted to say the worst thing of a fellow writer, remarked that he had a genius for ignorance, or else he could not have accumulated so much in so short a time. The joke of it is that this couldn't be true of ignorance, which is a negative quality, the absence of knowledge—but it might be true of stupidity, which is something more than the absence of intelligence. Considering how plentiful are examples of stupidity, we have given them slight attention. Stupidity is a very democratic and a very costly quality and there is such a thing as "cultivated stupidity," which is less excusable than a native lack of intelligence.

Underlying cultivated stupidity is the widespread inertia of the mind, for which a simpler description is "too lazy to think." If possible, get some one else to think for you. Let George do it! So we begin with the personal side of the failing. Lots of people ask questions less because they are anxious to know, than to save mental effort. They ask for alms instead of working for what they need. If they become addicted to the habit, they become mental dependents.

There's an irritating example of it among salesclerks and shopgirls particularly. If you ask for anything out of the ordinary, will refer it to B and B to C, and there may be but one woman behind the counter who uses her mind. The others use hers, too, because they find it easier than using their own. That habit leads to cultivated stupidity.

Now that touring is so common, motorists will tell you that they are lucky, when they inquire of the local inhabitants about perfectly familiar roads and places, to find one in five, young or old, who can give them any information. And cultivated stupidity isn't a rustic quality only. A teacher looking for a private school in the fashionable part of New York city inquired of another school and was told by the director that he had never heard of it. Yet the one school was number 24 and the other number 48 on the same street, and both had been there for years.

That may be partly a native defect—the absence of casual observation. Some people never happen to observe anything; they see only what they set out to see. It sounds incedible but it's true that one college student spoke to his roommate about a house that was blocking the street as it was being moved from one site to another, and he said he hadn't noticed it, though he had passed it on his way to college literally hundreds of times.

There are many varieties of cultivated stupidity and many factors in its make-up. Lack of curiosity, mental laziness, dependence on others, and perhaps most of all, low standards or requirements of what you are expected to know, all these make up the narrow-gauge habit of mind.

It's all very well to form the habit of inquiring, for that's the only way to find out about many things; but it's still more important to get the habit of finding out for yourself. Getting other people to tell you what you want to know should be secondary to telling yourself. There's a familiar joke about the college student who was looking forward to the happy day when a fellow could lie in bed and have his studies sent up to him. And Mr. Dooley takes it off in the question: "What particular brand of studies would you like our competent professors to study for you?"

One shouldn't be so ashamed of not knowing as to hesitate to ask; but one should be ashamed to ask what one can easily find out for oneself. There is a moral obligation to be as intelligent as you can. And that means that you must set yourself high standards of what you expect of yourself. By doing so you will be cultivating intelligence instead of stupidity.

AGED REFUGEE THINKS FLYER HIS LOST SON

NEW YORK, May 23.—In the little ancient town of Zagreb, also known as Agram, Jugo-Slavia, an old man, Theodore Schiller by name, is doggedly climbing to an illusion that his only son, whom he had believed dead through eleven years of anguish is none other than the famous aviator Clarence A. ("Duke") Schiller, who was first to reach the stranded crew of the Bremen on Greensly Island.

Destiny has played some cruel jokes on the old man, but this last one is the cruellest of them all. For "Duke" Schiller has denied any relationship to him, and the old man, rather than accept the facts—that the real parents of the flyer are living in Toronto, where "Duke" was brought up—chooses to believe the heart-breaking alternative that his long lost son is repudiating his parentage now that he has become famous.

Cruel as this belief is, Theodore Schiller would rather have an ungrateful son alive than a loving son dead. To accept facts as they are would be as though his son had died for the second time, after he had risen miraculously for a day from an unmarked grave in Siberia. And the old man has received too many shocks in life to accept one more.

Four Claimed "Duke" as Son

As soon as the news flashed over the world that a Canadian flyer called "Duke" Schiller had been the first to come to the rescue of the German-Irish trans-Atlantic lyers, four fathers, mourning for lost sons in different parts of the world, had their hopes raised high that Schiller was their missing son. "Duke" found himself being claimed by a new father each day. Cablegrams from Germany, Hungary, Alsace-Lorraine and far off Australia notified him daily of new paternities and offered him the freedom of the ancestral home. Five new fathers embraced him across the distances in as many days.

Most of these, however, had only the similarity of the family name to go by, and nothing more was heard from them after the facts came out. Not so with the old Russian refugee in Jugo-Slavia. For there the long arm of coincidence had made the illusion, once created, even stronger than fact.

Even Nickname Similar

In this case the picture of the living so closely resembles that of the dead that only a close examination reveals the difference in feature. And, strangest coincidence of all, the dead Russian youth, originally named Iliodor Schiller, had been given by his parents the nickname "Duke."

So certain was the old man in his belief that he at once appeared to the American Consul in Zagreb for a visa to go to America and claim his son. But he was so overcome by the excitement of his "find" that he spent several days in bed, close to a nervous breakdown.

He told the story of his son in a letter. It reads:

"My boy, Iliodor, nicknamed by us 'Duka,' was born in Petrograd, March 25, 1899. We sent him to Cadet school there. In 1915 he was called for service in the war, as standard bearer. He was taken prisoner in Austria and interned in Theresienstadt, Bohemia. From there we received his last letter, with a photograph, saying he was well. That was the last we heard from him. Later we were told he went Siberia and was killed by the Bolsheviks.

"But as soon as I read his name in the papers I felt at once my boy I had believed dead for so long was really alive. And when I saw his picture I recognized him at once despite the changes of the years. The joy has so overwhelmed me that I was forced to take to my bed. I can hardly wait for the day when I get a letter from him."

Instead of the letter came the news despatch carrying Schiller's denial, but the old man is still looking for the postman bringing him word from his son that the press despatches had made some blunder.

stubborn defence to save the mill, and was finally successful in subduing the flames and saving the mill.

The situation was fairly quiet Wednesday, although the ranger sent out patrols to keep in touch with the situation and stamp out any renewed outbreak.

While the entire fire has not yet been put out, the matter is well under control and little more damage is expected.

Others Under Control

The three fires which broke out in the Greencourt, Whitecourt and McLeod Lake areas last week are reported under control by the forestry office while additional fires at the junction of the Athabasca and Slave rivers, near Obed; between Erith and Weald, and near Brazeau, are reported as under control and having done no serious damage.

Col. Palmer is personally in the north country, while Sub-Chief Ranger Arthur Hadgkiss is in charge of operations in the Whitecourt and Athabasca River areas.

Crews from the lumber mills and camps have assisted the rangers in battling the flames. No injuries have been reported.

Heat Increased Hazard

Hot drying winds and lack of rain have greatly increased the fire hazard.

Reports from the Calgary district indicate that the situation there is "dry and dangerous." Campers have been warned of the danger and lookouts and patrols are in constant operation. Up to the present the south has not had a fire reported.

Tourists and campers have been urged by Col. Palmer to exercise the greatest possible care in stamping out fires and extinguishing matches as danger of fire has never been greater than at the present time.

'OSWALD' THE ACE GIVES UP FLYING LIFE

The NEA Service

MONTREAL, Quebec, May 23.—"Oswald" was a born ace, and took to aviation as he took to eating, until he learned the substantial comfort and happy effortlessness of traveling de luxe in a private car—and now, just try to make him fly!

A handsome, clubby pigeon, a little overweight from high living, is Oswald. Some time ago, while making a rapid, non-stop flight near Eldorado Park, Ontario, he collided with a rapidly moving electric car of the Canadian National lines, and when he was picked up by Motorman Cecil Brown and Conductor Joe Watson, he had a broken wing and internal injuries.

If he had to take a spill, however, he had selected a favorable occasion for it. For the employees of this railway are experts in first aid, and always have a kit handy as a part of their equipment.

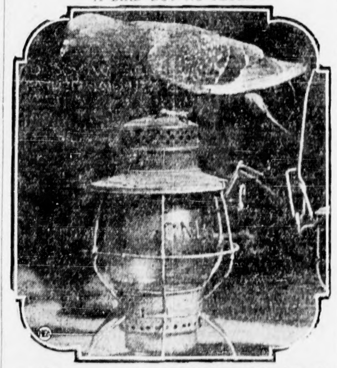
Oswald' wounds were dressed, his wing put into splints, and careful scientific nursing was given him. An emergency hospital was fitted up for him near the heater of the car. Soon Oswald's cylinders all were clicking and he was as good as new.

But this experience had changed Oswald's outlook on life. Fear may have entered his pigeon soul. Luxury and comfort may have softened and weakened him. At any rate, Oswald refused to leave the private car. He made it known, politely and firmly, that he had moved in permanently.

From that time to this he has made a daily run of 150 miles with the crew. Strangers entering the car are presented to Oswald and he returns their salutations in his best pigeon English. At every stop people ask the trainmen, "How's Oswald?"

"Flying is the bunk," says Oswald, "take it from me. This is the life."

A BIRD BUT NO FLYER



Oswald was an ace, but now he has given up flying and travels by rail

BIG PRODUCER NOW AWAITED

CALGARY, May 23.—Drilling was resumed at the Home well in Turner Valley during Monday in an attempt to complete the well. Operations were commenced early in the morning and continued through the day.

It was found that the column of water in the hole utilized as a precaution against a sudden high pressure retarded drilling, only about six feet of new hole was made by evening.

Drilling will be resumed early Tuesday morning. Oil lines from the well to tankage erected on the ground were being laid during Tuesday and preparations have been made for the handling of production.

PAINFUL RHEUMATISM

Some diseases give immunity from another attack, but rheumatism works just the other way. Every attack of rheumatism invites another, worse than that, it reduces the body's power so that each attack is worse than the one before.

If any disease needs attention early it is rheumatism, but there is scarcely any disease more difficult to treat successfully. When a medicine does relieve rheumatism therefore it is worthy of special notice. Medical authorities agree that the blood becomes thin with alarming rapidity as rheumatism develops. Maintaining the quality of the blood is therefore a reasonable way of preventing and combatting rheumatism. That it works out in fact is shown by the beneficial effects which follow the treatment of rheumatism, acute, muscular and articular, with that great blood tonic, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

That thousands of people who have taken Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for their rheumatism have been benefited is a fact beyond dispute. That rheumatism does not return as long as the blood is kept rich and red is equally true. If, therefore, you are suffering from rheumatism in any form you should lose no time in giving Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial.

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Glasgow Rangers Will Play Brooklyn May 30

NEW YORK, May 23.—The Glasgow Rangers will open their soccer tour of the United States and Canada at Ebbett's Field, Brooklyn on Saturday, June 2 instead of May 30, against the Brooklyn Wanderers as previously arranged.

Humbert Fugazzy insisted upon enforcing his rights to first claim to the ground to stage the light heavyweight championship fight between Tommy Loughran and Pete Latzo on May 30, which necessitated the Rangers' opening game being put back three days.

Success Adages Spur Filipino in Career

SAN FRANCISCO, May 23.—Speedy Dado, Filipino flweight who only recently was defeated by Newsboy Brown, keeps a scrapbook which he uses for mottoes on how to succeed.

Among other things to be found in Dado's reminder are those familiar adages:

1. Choose to do the right thing.
2. Follow the advice of people who know.
3. Don't let the head get big.
4. Don't be disappointed over criticism. Maybe you need some.
5. Above everything, never do a thing without your whole might in it.

The little Filipino, although beaten by Brown, is being hailed by coast critics as one of the best in his class.

Wetaskiwin Wants Road Entrance Plan Changed

Protesting against the proposed entrance of the Wetaskiwin-Camrose highway into the former city, a delegation from Wetaskiwin, headed by W. The delegation urged that the highway be located so that it would connect with local roads, thus enabling tourists to pass through the city without skirting it.

THE HIGHWAY LIMITED—A Story of Modern Transportation

THE greatest transportation story of this era concerns the spectacular development of the long-distance motor stage.

High-powered, luxurious motor bus lines now span the continent from coast to coast. The great coaches travel day and night, through desert, plain, mountain fastness and densely populated regions. Thousands of feeder lines penetrate the farm sections, and many of them bring fast highway transportation to the very doors of isolated hamlets and deeply hidden ranches.

Catherine Woolley has written five articles for The Edmonton Bulletin telling the story of the most fascinating long-distance stage runs. She has crossed the continent east and west by automobile four times in the last three years and she has motored across it north and south. She knows the roads, and she will give much authentic information of value to motorists.

The first of this series begins in The Bulletin on the Motor Page, Saturday, May 26—Watch for it!

Washington Report Indicates New York Governor Headed For White House

SMITH NEEDS THREE STATES FOR VICTORY

Republicans Fear Hoover Cannot Carry Country Against "Al"

WASHINGTON, D.C., May 23.—It is the well-founded fear in informed and influential Republican circles here that Hon. Herbert Hoover, prospective candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, cannot carry the country against Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York, whose nomination as Democratic candidate seems assured, and this fear may eventually block his choice as party leader.

Secretary Hoover has identified himself with every policy of the Coolidge administration and is the popular Republican candidate. His nomination, however, is far from assured. The formal opposition to his candidacy within the party is fairly strong and well organized.

In the beginning the politicians supported Secretary Hoover to succeed Calvin Coolidge because they were sure he could win. Now that they are less confident in his vote-getting capacity they are a little lukewarm in his support. His defeat in the Indiana primaries by Senator Watson offset his decisive victory in Ohio and suggested that he might lose a good many middle western states that are normally republican.

If Governor Smith can capture Missouri, Indiana and Wisconsin, his election is likely.

Rumor still says Coolidge may be a candidate to succeed himself. This is unlikely, but the persistence of such talk is evidence that the grand old party is getting worried about the coming election.

INSANE MAN'S VIOLENT DEATH INQUIRED INTO

WHITBY, Ont., May 23.—Coroner McGillivray and Crown Attorney McGibbons, of Oshawa, are today conducting an investigation into the slaying of Walter Toom, 45, a paralytic and feeble-minded patient at the Ontario Hospital for the Insane here, whose body was found yesterday by the side of his bed with his head crushed.

Toom, who was in an advanced state of paresis, it is believed, was killed in his sleep, a large wooden mallett spattered with blood being found near his bed.

Investigation conducted by G. H. Stevenson, superintendent of the institution, has led to the isolation of a patient from another dormitory on the same floor who is suspected of committing the crime. He may be sent to the hospital for the criminally insane at Guelph, although much depends on the result of the inquest opened today.

According to the superintendent, the inmate suspected had been one of the best behaved patients in the hospital and it is thought he committed the deed as a result of unpleasant remarks made to him by Toom. The superintendent said the man does not seem to be particularly disturbed and has reverted to his mild and harmless state.

Leduc Town Council Has Busiest Session

Exclusive to Bulletin

LEDUC, May 23. — At the town council meeting on Monday night it was decided to advertise for tenders for the construction of the C. & E. highway through the town.

E. A. Panar was granted permission to instal a gas filling station in front of his premises, subject to the approval of location by the public works committee.

In a letter from the C.P.R. permission was given the town to connect a water main from the company's tank to a hydrant and the matter was refered to the fire committee.

The death occurred in his town residence of C. W. Wakefield in his 74th year. Deceased farmed a half section of land eight miles east of Leduc for a considerable number of years.

Thursday being Victoria day and a public holiday, the Wednesday half holiday will not be observed in town.

Arthur Bergler, 13 years old, was taken to the Misericordia hospital last Sunday by Dr. Woods as a result of an accident from the explosion of what was supposed to have been a box of dynamite caps. He and a companion found the box in an alley, and finding it hard to open, young Bergler threw it against a rock when the explosion followed. The other boy escaped without injury.

Money is plentiful in Leduc and can easily be obtained by the process of "blessing," as demonstrated recently by a gypsy lady with David Griesdorf's roll of $112. As a thanks giving for having his roll returned, Mr. Griesdorf is planning to give an oyster supper.

Harry Sutherland is here on a visit with his father, Dr. Sutherland.

Miss Iniz Ervin is in the General hospital, Edmonton, recovering from an operation for appendicitis.

Mr. W. F. Sutherland, manager of the local branch of the Bank of Montreal, had to return to the Royal Alexandra hospital, Edmonton, yesterday for further treatment.

As the result of accidentally receiving a shot gun charge, a sixteen year old lad named Cameron, who resided with his parents south of Conjuring lake, had his leg amputated above the knee after he was taken to an Edmonton hospital on Tuesday.

Special Empire Day Ceremony, S. Africa

LONDON, May 23—In place of the usual celebration of Union day in South Africa, May 31, there will be a special ceremony at Cape Town, where the Union Jack and the new South African flag will be simultaneously unfurled for the first time.

A similar ceremony will take place at South Africa House, London, the residence of the South African high commissioner in London. Prince Arthur of Connaught, a former governor general of South Africa, will represent the king at the London ceremony as his majesty wishes in this way to show his appreciation of the South African government's desire that the date shall be regarded as of historical importance.

Insulin Still Deep Mystery to Medicos Royal Society Informed

Co-Research Worker of Dr. Banting Says New Field Opened

WINNIPEG, May 23.—Insulin, the established cure for diabetes, is still a mystery to medical science, Dr. J. J. R. MacLeod, professor of physiology at the University of Toronto and co-worker with Dr. F. G. Banting, revealed on his arrival here Tuesday for the meeting of the Royal Society of Canada.

"The year's work which followed Dr. Banting's world-stirring discovery of insulin led science on far paths but has not disclosed how insulin works on the human system," Dr. McLeod said. "So far we know it can be used to fatten underweight children and that it affords the means of investigating the whole problem of nutrition."

Asked if insulin had been found efficient in the treatment of any other disease than diabetes, Dr. MacLeod observed with a smile that "diabetes" covered a multitude of ills. "We have thought that the discovery of insulin would simplify many problems," he said, "whereas we are finding that it has opened up a door of medical exploration which leads to many dark and yet-unprobed passages.

"There is no doubt that insulin has excelled our brightest hopes as a cure for diabetes, but it is baffling us in many ways and has given us a thousand new problems to solve," Dr. MacLeod asserted.

ROYAL SOCIETY GIVEN $25,000

WINNIPEG, May 23—A sum of $25,000 has been placed at the disposal of the Royal Society of Canada as a nucleus of an endowment fund by the Carnegie corporation of New York, it was announced here Tuesday by Sir Robert Falconer, president of Toronto university. The money, he stated, will be retained exclusively for endowment purposes.

In reporting to the convention of the society Sir Robert said that the endowment committee had given consideration to the possibility of raising an endowment that would enable the society to be somewhat independent. The dominion government, he said, so far had only contributed $6,000. Further assistance, however, was being sought.

Sixteen new fellows were declared elected, to fill vacancies in the council. They are: Sir Robert L. Borden, W. H. Boyd, Ottawa, Robt. H. Clark, Prof. J. S. Delury, Prof. D. C. Harvey, of the University of Manitoba, L. L. Stines, Saskatoon, George W. Scarth, Montreal, Stanley Smith, Albert Ferland, Rev. Father Hugolin, Oskar Klotz, B. R. Mackay, Rt. Rev. F. X. Ross, James Malcolm Swaine, W. Stewart Wallace and W. T. Waugh. Only the first seven were in attendance at Tuesday's meeting.

Classy Gypsies Pay Wetaskiwin Visit

Exclusive to Bulletin

WASKATENAU, May 23—Owing to the increasing business at this section of the Oliver to St. Paul line, it is rumored there will be a direct mailing connection between Smoky Lake, Waskatenau, and Radway Centre. Formerly all mail had to go "Edmonton forward" and the new provision will make delivery twenty-four hours earlier.

The seeding of wheat is completed and the drills are busy with other grains. The additional tractors in the district make it possible to care for the increased acreage. Last year the old contention that the presence of numerous mosquitoes meant a good wheat year, was frequently commented upon during July and August. Since that proved correct we already predict a bumper crop this season.

Mr. and Mrs. Christie, whose home burned to the ground two weeks ago, has purchased the Jack Hunter house in Waskatenau and friends have volunteered to remove it the five miles to their farm.

A new name will have to be invented for the nomadic band that visited Waskatenau last week. Travelling in Hudson cars they could scarcely be called gypsies. They did not wear the picturesque costumes nor carry themselves with the pleasing grace of

The Pine Creek Women's Institute will not hold their monthly meeting on the regular date. It has been postponed to June 6th in order to receive the report of the delegate to the Calgary convention.

SETTLER BURNED TO DEATH

WHITEWOOD, Sask., May 23—H. Howard, an old settler of this district, was burned to death when his home was destroyed by fire here today. He was ill in bed when the fire broke out.

Perhaps You Won Bungalow Here's Answer

It's out now, folks. So if your guess for the length of time the candle in Mike's newsstore window happened to be 10 days, 5 hours, 52 minutes and 36 seconds, and your estimate happened to be in before the other fellow's—well, you are in the price of a nice new bungalow. You can call around with your favorite "movie" man and take the bungalow where you want it.

The candle was started burning at one and one-half seconds past 5 o'clock on the evening of Saturday, May 12, and, according to the Ash Bros., official timekeepers for the contest, it stopped burning at 52 minutes and 37½ seconds past 10 o'clock Tuesday evening.

The estimates are now being checked over by the officials in charge of the campaign who are working overtime in order to have the results known as soon as possible. But they say that in spite of all their efforts, it will be at least a day or two before the name of the winner will be known.

Sir Chas. Wakefield Gives Moth Plane to Toronto Flying Club

The hangars of the Toronto Flying Club at Leaside Airdrome were the scene of a very interesting event recently, when a de Havilland Moth aeroplane was presented to the club. The donor was Colonel Sir Charles Cheers Wakefield, Bart., of London, England, known as Great Britain's patron saint of flying. Sir Charles, who is a noted imperialist and philanthropist, will be remembered as having presented the mace to the Canadian Parliament shortly after the war.

Captain C. D. Browne, M.C., Canadian manager of C. C. Wakefield & Co. Ltd., presented the Moth to the Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario on behalf of Sir Charles Wakefield. The plane was then christened "The Sir Charles Wakefield" by Mrs. W. D. Ross.

The Toronto Flying Club is probably the only club at present training members on a "Moth" machine. It has made both Sir Charles Wakefield and Captain Browne life members and has asked Sir Charles to be its patron.

During the turbulent days of the war, Sir Charles was Lord Mayor of London and was appointed Commander of the British Empire by His Majesty the King. He wears the Scarlet Ribbon of the Legion of Honor.

Sacred Concert at Beverly Is Enjoyed

Exclusive to Bulletin

BEVERLY, May 23—Beverly enjoyed its first sacred concert on Sunday evening, May 20, when a group of the local singers and players put on a program in the Presbyterian church. Owing to the short time for preparation, the program was somewhat lacking in variety, but the excellence of some of the numbers given did much to mitigate this handicap.

Miss Annie Tyldesley gave freely of her beautiful talent for piano playing and was splendid, both as soloist and accompanist. Her playing of "In a Persian Market" was one of the most popular items of the evening. Mrs. Jack Booth, accompanied by Miss Tyledsley, sang "The Holy City," and both artistes gave a beautiful interpretation of this well-loved song. The Biollo sisters sang "The Palms" in their usual charming manner, and the girls' choirs, both of St. Mary's and the Presbyterian church, sang several hymns very pleasingly.

Mr. W. Walker was chairman for the evening and attended to his duties most efficiently.

A collection taken at the door amply defrayed expenses.

GAMBLER GOES UNDER GRILL, POLICE PROBE

Denies Being Offered Reward for Giving Evidence to Commission

VANCOUVER, B.C., May 23.—Motives of Georgie Chow, Chinese gambler, for appearing as a witness at the Vancouver police enquiry, were the subject of a gruelling cross-examination of that witness by W. W. B. McInnes, counsel for Shue Moy, alleged Vancouver gambling king, at Tuesday's sessions of the investigation before Commissioner R. S. Lennie.

The witness, who was questioned all day, was subjected to a barrage of questions by Mr. McInnes whether he had been promised any gambling privileges or any reward for testifying, if there should be a change in administration. He denied that he had been promised anything or that anyone was paying him.

Friend in Police

Georgie Chow declared that he had asked Wong Wah if he would like to give evidence, and that that Chinese had said he did not think he would, adding that Shue Moy was strong and that police inspector Jackson was a good friend of the Chinese.

Witness denied that he had told Wong Wah that control of Chinese gambling would be given to a group of Chinese if there were changes in the police. He also denied that police commissioner T. W. Fletcher had ever promised him anything if he would give "evidence of a certain kind" before the commissioner.

Georgie Chow declared that he had not told Wong Wah that Mr. Fletcher would be the next mayor.

NATIONALISTS STILL STRIVING FOR BIG GOAL

LONDON, May 23.—A long stretch of territory still separates the Nationalist forces under Chiang-Kai-Shek, from their untimate goal, which is Pekin.

Late dispatches from the northern capital indicate that Marshal Chang Tso-Lin is prepared to carry out his announced determination of defending Pekin and frustrating the advance of the Nationalists.

In confirmation of this comes the report that Marshal Chang's chief of staff, Yang Yu-Ting, has concentrated his troops along the railway below Paotingfu to give battle to the approaching enemy.

The northerners are said to be in the neighborhood of Wangtu, 30 miles below Paotingfu and about 110 miles from Pekin.

The Japanese have turned over to the Nationalist authorities at Tsinan all prisoners and munitions taken during the recent troubles there.

From Shanghai comes word that the Canton government has forbidden anti-Japanese demonstrations, and has promised protection to all the Japanese and other foreign residents.

13 KILLED BY NEW DISASTER IN U. S. MINE

West Virginia Is Location of Latest Blast—Four Are Missing

BLUEFIELD, W.Va., May 23—Thirteen miners were known to have been killed and four were missing today following a blast in the number one mine of the Yukon-Pocahontas Coal company, at Yukon, McDowell county, last night.

The bodies of the 13 workers had been brought to the surface by rescue workers. The exact number of men in the mine at the time of the explosion was unknown, but company officers said they did not think there were more than 17.

Only loaders and machine cutters were in the workings, it was said. The bodies removed were those of loaders.

The mine was quickly cleared of gases, according to reports received here, and rescue efforts pushed to the limit.

The cause of the explosion was undetermined, but its source was thought to have been gas.

Yukon is in an isolated section and news of the blast did not reach here until hours after it occurred.

United Church W.M.S. Spent $24,290 in 1927-28

Presbyterials Were Held in Every Presbytery but One Last Year

"A peanut stand can be run in a haphazard manner, but a big department store must have system," said Mrs. J. E. White, treasurer for the Alberta Conference branch of the Women's Missionary Society of the United church, when she presented the financial report for the third year of the organization at Tuesday afternoon's session in McDougall church. With receipts of $25,054.24 during the year, and disbursements of $24,290.04, delegates gathered from Presbyterials all over Alberta realized with new clarity the large organization that has grown out of the former Methodist and Presbyterian churches that are now united in the great whole. Funds were received from Calgary, Hanna Camrose, Edmonton, Grand Prairie, High River, Lacombe, Lethbridge, Medicine Hat, Red Deer, Stettler, St Paul, Vermilion and Wainwright, Calgary leading with receipts of $7,295.51 and Edmonton second with $6,900. The funds included a special donationof $600 from Mrs. Scruton.

Large Membership

Over 2000 members are included in the various auxiliaries, with Girls' groups and mission bands bringing the number well over 3000.

Continuation of Presbyterial Presidents' reports included St. Paul, in which Mrs. Hencher spoke of the great home mission field which is the backbone of the Auxiliary, and told of various ways of making money, including the raising of a missionary pig. Mrs. A. J. Adcock reported an inspiring Presbyterial at Stettler, after which larger obligations had been assumed. Mrs. A. E. Arcner of Vermilion was loud in her praises of Miss Jack, a missionary who brought much inspiration. She introduced two Japanese nurses from the Lamont hospital. Mrs. R. MacPherson reported that Wainwright had appreciated the help of Mrs. Duncan.

Down to Business Now

Last year was spent in getting acquainted, but this year the United Church W.M.S. has settled down to real work, said the corresponding secretary, Mrs. Rannie. There is now a presbyterial in every presbytery, except Peace River, she said, and congratulated Camrose on having sent Miss Capsey to the Wahstao mission field.

Home Missions

An interesting program of home missions included an address on Indian work by the Rev. J. Woodsworth, who spoke of this activity as supplementary to the government education and work among the Indians. Day schools had proven failures, but the boarding schools are most successful with excellent work being done. Eighteen thousand of the 105,000 Indians in Canada come under the United Church. The great fight at present is against tuberculosis.

Miss F. Gray reported on the fine work being done among the Ukrainians, and the need for teachers and leaders among the children, who are bright and apt. She referred to the 40,000 Ukrainians in the province and the great work yet to be done..

French Protestant work in the Bonnyville and Cold Lake district where two churches, two schools and a hospital have been established was very interesting as reviewed by Rev. Dr. Duclos.

From China

Miss F. Langrill, a missionary from Canton, China, took the women to the great foreign field and told of the splendid mission activities at the Kong Moon school in China, where children are being educated and taught to be Christians. Mrs. G. Lawrence sang sweetly in the course of the afternoon, and twenty staunch little Canadians from the McQueen institute sang a children's chorus.

Young People Busy

The following reports of provincial secretaries were submitted at the morning session of the Alberta Conference branch, W.M.S., of the United Church of Canada meeting in MacDougall church.

Strangers' secretary, Mrs. J. H. Studholme: 13 secretaries and total number of calls, 4549, of which 2262 were social, 4431 hospital, 1029 convalescent, and 141 removal.

Supply secretary, Mrs. McArthur, Edmonton: Bales sent to mission schools and hospitals valued at $2288.28, and cash to the amount of $206.95.

Associate helpers, Mrs. D. K. Allen, Westlock: Membership of 827; subscribers to missionary monthly, 148, 64 members were active during the year. Donations to provincial treasury amounted to $1102.62.

Young Women's secretary, Mrs. A. L. Elliott, Wetaskiwin: C.G.I.T. affiliated societies with membership of 722, and donations made amounting to $159.20. Young women's auxiliaries 9; total membership 97; donations received $479.26. Circles 12, including membership of 304. Funds donated $1636.70.

Should Use Press

Mission and baby band secretary, Mrs. Thomas Powell, Calgary: 85 mission bands, membership of 1751, and 96 life members; 11 baby bands; subscribers to palm branch, 250; and monies donated, $1947.82.

Missionary monthly secretary, Mrs. R. H. McPherson, Holden: 2271 subscribers representing 72 per cent of membership.

The literature secretary, Mrs. J. R. Lane, of Calgary, urged all presbyterial secretaries to instruct auxiliary secretaries to make full use of available literature. She also reported 18 life members.

Mrs. O. E. Brandon, of Lethbridge, press secretary, stressed the importance of publicity, suggesting that all press secretaries make use of the local newspapers as well as reporting to the provincial secretary.

The devotional exercises were taken by delegates from the High River presbyterial, and Rev. McIntosh took the noontide service.

Why Not Make May 24 Decoration Day?

LONDON, Ont., May 23—The Free Press says editorially:—

Would it not be better to make May 24 Decoration Day, a day on which the glorious dead, including Queen Victoria herself, could be remembered? The United States has a Decoration Day, upon which day the graves of soldiers, of statesmen and illustrious dead are marked. It is a great patriotic holiday and on that day the youth are reminded of the history of the republic and the deeds of her great men are recalled.

Canada has today no Decoration Day. It is recognized on different dates in different cities—and in some places not at all. It is an ideal time of the year for such an occasion. The spring flowers are in all their glory—the world is at its best. It would be no disrespect to the great queen if the character of the holiday were changed. As a matter of fact, the holiday is rapidly losing its patriotic significance and is just the first great day of the summer season for picnics, baseball tournaments and horse races. Such a change would not, of course, affect Empire Day, which is celebrated in the schools on May 23.

Wilson, superintendent of missions for northern Alberta in the United Church, and the Rev. Dr. Wedeman, Moravian minister from Bruderheim, also spoke effectively.

Gold Medal For Proficiency

The gold medal for general proficiency, awarded by the faculty, went to Grace Oyama, and the silver medal was won by Evelyn Taylor. Vera Boyd won the Elizabeth Young Memorial prize, presented in memory of Dr. Young's mother, for the highest class standing during the three years of training, and second prize in this, a $5 gold piece, presented by Miss S. E. Welsh, matron of the Isolation hospital, Edmonton, and former matron of Lamont hospital, went to Estelle Beckwith.

Mr. S. A. Dickson, assisted by Miss Agnes McLeod, instructress at the hospital, presented the prizes. Miss H. Rice, the superintendent, Miss Ross and Miss McLeod received beautiful bouquets, and the graduating class carried the carnations presented by the hospital. Mr. A. T. Cushing and Dr. H. R. Smith were also guests from Edmonton.

Dedication of New Wing

Prior to the graduating exercises, a dedication service for the new wing of the hospital was held in the hospital, with Dr. Smith in charge, and Dr. Arnup making the dedication address.

Anglo-Canadian Alliance

Mid-September has been the time set for a marriage of great national importance in an Anglo-Canadian alliance, when Miss Margaret Fleming, the only daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Hugh Fleming, will be married to the Viscount Hardinge, aide-de-camp to His Excellency the Governor General. The ceremony will be performed at the Church of St. Alban the Martyr. Among those expected to be present are Their Excellencies the Governor General and Viscountess Willingdon, Viscountess Hardinge, mother of the prospective bridegroom; Lord Richard Nevill, late comptroller to H.R.H. the Duke of Connaught and conptroller to the Duke of Devonshire, and Lord and Lady Penrhyn, brother-in-law and sister of Lord Hardinge.

Wimodausis Society Has Been Active for Past Twelve Years

Twelve glowing blue and gold candles on a white frosted birthday cake marked the twelfth anniversary of the Wimodausis Society, when a special birthday meeting was held at the home of Mrs. H. G. Dimsdale, 10706 81st avenue, on Tuesday evening. Mrs. W. J. Robinson and Mrs. Roy M. Lambertson were in charge of the attractive evening's entertainment which followed upon the brief business meeting, the last of the season. Assisting were Mrs. Dimsdale, Mrs. W. F. H. Brown, Mrs. Norman Shields, Mrs. Paul Castor, Mrs. Charles McCormick, Mrs. J. H. Rendle, Mrs. T. Wriglesworth, Mrs. G. W. Boon, Mrs. F. E. Griffith, Mrs. Charles Cosens, and Mrs. J. L. Tipp.

A very interesting little talk on the history of the society, which includes in its membership wives, mothers, daughters and sisters of Masons, was given by Mr. M. C. Wright, the founder, and Mrs. Wright, the first president, was also a guest of honor. Mrs. J. L. Tipp, a charter member, was among those present, while Mrs. W. F. H. Brown, Mrs. Frank Waite, Mrs. R. C. Macdonald and Mrs. A. C. Dempsey were first year members present. It was regretted that owing to illness, Mrs. W. J. Hardy, one of the earliest members, was unable to attend.

Mrs. Tipp cut the birthday cake, and Mrs. R. E. Jones, Mrs. Wriglesworth and Mrs. Dempsey won the contests. The conveners put on a laughable little skit, "The Wimodausis Family Photo Album."

Although meetings will not be resumed until autumn, work will be carried on by committees throughout the summer.

Community Leagues

Westmount Community League held a novel children's entertainment in the community hall on Friday evening when the program was arranged from suggestions submitted in letters sent to the committee by Dorothy Collins, Hazel Penn, Marjorie Metz, May Stevenson, Fanny Mitchell, Billy Spear and Walter Morgan.

The program included attractive drills, dances and choruses by the Westmountettes—Muriel Wayne, Betty Moore, Helen Wood, Elinor Dunbar, Isabel Gathercole, May Stevenson, Dora Dalgleish, Marion Caswell, Isabel Crook and Mary Burness; piano selections by Dorothy McIntyre; demonstration of wallpaper clippings by Marjorie Metz; dances and comic songs by Mary and Sandy Ferguson; dance numbers by Jannis Rehinhardt and Betty Moore; and a half hour dance program including Irish Tilt doll dance, Japanese, Dutch dances and other numbers by pupils of the Pimlott school of dancing and expression. Pupils taking part were Elaine Wells, Helene Hall, Frances Hall, Florence Dunlap, Marion Ingram, Annie Bottomley, Patricia Bond, Margaret Campbell, Jean Campbell, Joan Clark, Bernice McBeth, Yvonne Lacey, Mary Mason, Irene Speissman, and Daphne Surrey; and readings by Barbara Chinneck and Jean Cushing.

Mr. H. Fishburn of King Edward Park community league sang comic songs, and Mr. Perkins gave an interesting display of conjuring.

Thirty-six Cents a Day Feeds Each Person in Family

MONTREAL, May 23—Teaching housewives how to provide their families with good meals at small expense is the object of a movement recently added to its program by the Child Welfare association. Instruction groups have already been formed by the C. W. A. nutritionist, Miss Mildred Goodeve, and the women attending them have manifested keen interest in learning why certain foods are important, how to substitute less expensive articles for costly ones, and how to draw up their weekly budgets along approved dietetic lines.

A budget prepared by a professional woman at the request of the C. W. A., shows a daily expenditure per person in a household of two, of 36 cents on food. In a family with an annual income of approximately $5,000 the cost of food per person was shown to be 60 cents daily.

Japanese Nurse Was Highest in Her Class At Alberta Hospital

Ohiyo Kuba and Grace Oyama—the very names are fragrant as cherry blossoms and a-flutter with the magic of the far east. One might have met these two dainty little Japanese friends on the streets of old Tokio, with blossoms in their jet-black hair and the mystery of the orient in their clear dark eyes. But one didn't. One met them in the Conference Branch of the United Church Women's Missionary Society meeting in McDougall United church, listening with keen interest to the stirring accounts of mission work in various parts of the province; and in speaking to them one was addressing two of the most efficient little graduate nurses that the Lamont hospital ever placed its seal of approval upon. For no later than on Monday night did Miss Kubo and Miss Oyama receive their diplomas and congratulations of their instructors and friends upon their success as members of the 1928 graduating class.

Won Gold Medal

Coming from Victoria, B.C., where Miss Oyama was born, and to where Miss Kubo went at an early age from Japan, the girls expressed great enthusiasm over their work and felt the greatest appreciation of the kindness shown to them during their years of training in Lamont.

It was not until this morning that word was received from Lamont of the awarding of the gold medal by the faculty for general proficiency to Grace Oyama for the class of '28, and none were more eager to congratulate this shining-eyed little Japanese-Canadian upon her success than her classmates. Miss Oyama has a way of forgetting to mention such matters herself. She spoke vaguely of public health nursing among her own people of the Pacific coast, but one felt that the just graduated nurse had seen farther into the land of dreams than she was willing to tell the world at large about at the moment.

Miss Oyama and Miss Kubo will return to Lamont to complete a few months training before leaving the hospital.

Inspiring Graduating Exercises Held For Nurses of Misericordia

Twelve Nurses of Class of '28 Received Diplomas on Tuesday

Twelve young nurses in crisp uniforms of spotless white, their arms filled with red roses, left their Alma Mater, the Misericordia hospital, on Tuesday evening, to receive their laurels, the blessings and congratulations of the province, the church, the city, the medical profession and their many friends and associates on the occasion of their graduation.

Tall pottery floor vases filled with flowers, graceful palms and feathery ferns, banked the stage at Sullivan's Academy, where in the presence of a large assemblage of guests and spectators the graudation exercises took place. To the stirring strains of a march song, the class entered the hall promptly at 8:30 o'clock, preceded by His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, His Worship Mayor Bury, Rt. Rev. Mgr. James McGuigan, P.A., V.G., D.D.; Dr. W. C. Redmond and Dr. J. B. Wright, who officiated at the ceremony.

His Honor Presented Diplomas

His Honor the Leiutenant-Governor in presenting the diplomas congratulated the class on their scholastic achievements, urging them to cling closely to the high ideals of their hospital.

CLASS OF '28

Members of the 1928 graduating class of the Misericordia hospital training school who received their diplomas on Tuesday evening were: Mabel Beatrice Prosser, Sophie Madalyme Rendall, Laura Catherine Murphy, Jessie Beardsley, Bessie Jane Hickey, Elizabeth Kulak, Jean Alfrettia Marshall, Martha Valborg Morkeberg, Dollena Jane Spence, Elizabeth Margaret Douglas, Elizabeth Margaret Cook, Margaret Cora Drysdale.

"Always keep an open mind ready to acquire an even greater knowledge of your profession," His Honor said, drawing attention to the large field of service in this province where, in some districts, there is neither doctor nor nurse.

His Worship the Mayor in addressing the class, spoke of the inspiration they must receive from the name of their hospital, Misericordia meaning "pity." Pity is the outstanding quality of so humanitarian a profession, the Mayor said, and when wedded to duty must result in success and the highest enjoyment.

Obligations of the Profession

Rt. Rev. Mgr. McGuigan spoke inspiringly of the obligations of the nursing profession, not only in guarding the body, but the soul. Dr. Redmond, who was in the chair, gave an inspiring history of the hospital from its beginnings.

Dr. J. S. Wright, under whose supervision the class has come both practically and academically, spoke in glowing terms of their achievements, commenting on the very personal interest they had received from the nursing sisters, an advantage rarely attained in the hospitals of larger cities.

Many Flowers Received

Attractive musical numbers were given by Mrs. Gordon James, Miss Olive Brosseau, Mr. A. Nichols, Mr. W. Townend, Mr. Tom Gardner, Mr. William Wyman and Mr. Dennis Clayton.

Mme. Coupez, who was in charge of the music, also played the accompaniments. Flowers were presented to the class with the compliments of the Royal Alexandra hospital and the General hospital. The ushers were Mr. R. Bouchard, Mr. A. L. Doucette, Mr. N. O. Paquette and Mr. F. L. McQuaid.

One of the vital questions before many an ordinarily peaceful and home-loving family today is "How far will we get if we keep on going?" Which is to say that summer travelling is about to begin.

It is nearly a month since I noticed the first car of the season with a California license; and since that time a little patch of blue or yellow or red with any crazy sort of a string of numbers and letters may catch one's eye at any place or time; and another car from the far away is marked.

With the Family Faithful primed and loaded down, and the children packed into the back seat while mother and father lead in the front, the next hilltop doesn't seem nearly so far away as it did from the living room window; and who shall say to what love of gypsying the most respectable, matter-of-course law-abiding citizens may be given? The streets of Jasper become the wide avenues of contentment, the trees and flowers and folks "back home" take on new glory, and Edmonton is suddenly revealed as the greatest little city in the world—if father gets far enough away.

The strange thing about travelling is that it seems to give you a so much clearer perspective upon the things you have left behind. That is why, as a vacation for the office girl or mother at home, it has no peer.

Thinking about summer vacations has reminded me of an annual post-holiday oath: never to visit a large city again. Looking east, west and north, I recall Toronto as the hottest place I have ever entered in a July afternoon; Seattle the hardest, and the Peace River country the most peaceful. Which is, of course, just the viewpoint of one who doesn't find crowds refreshing in the holiday season.

The fact that 400 passengers left on Thursday's train for the Peace River country gives one some idea of the many pleasure-seekers, as well as new settlers, that will visit the great unspoiled beauty reserve of Alberta this year.

Many seek excitement for their summer holidays: new faces, new sights, new sounds, plenty of noise and all the trimmings. Certainly the larger American and Canadian cities supply these; and to the native of Pacific or Atlantic coast there is something that never quite takes the place of that first whiff of salt sea breeze that comes up from the ocean to greet the prairie-dweller.

But for peace, and quiet, friendly enjoyment, nothing can quite equal the Peace River with its great, unperturbed waters, its mighty green banks with their abundant foliage, and the loveliness of blue shadows that creep into the crevices of the farther hills.

Here is romance and adventure—wild game to be seen by the camper, friendly little towns with friendly people, horses, not too many motor cars, and wild flowers and fruit for the asking.

You might find it dull; you might find it boresome. But there is something in the magic of it which almost guarantees that you will not. I cannot forget Barbara Young's poem in the New York Times, and think that many others feel with her at holiday time:

"Let us be silent now,
The night is still.
The wind lies down to sleep
On yonder hill.
The bird's last call
Has died into a dream
The last faint gleam
Has faded from the west.
A single star
Shines out just where
The silver poplars are,
And close above them,
Low, upon the sky.

"I wonder why
Men flee from silent beauty; all day long
They seek the clamor
Of the human throng.
Words fill the air
Like swarms of buzzing flies,
But in men's eyes,
If you will look,
And turn and look again,
You will behold
The sign of lonely men.
Words do not feed
The hunger of the heart.
Let us depart
From words unto the silence
Of the night.
O, man,
O,brother,
How the stars are white!
How quiet are the stones
Beneath our feet;
The air, how still and sweet,
The blessed sky, how wide,
And dark and blue,
And silent.
Let our hearts be silent too.
And wait for some strange manna
that shall fall
To feed us all."

Vegetable Compound Helps Run-Down Condition

Simcoe, Ont.—"For several years I have had a run-down feeling, caused from overwork. One day a neighbor came in. I told her all about what was wrong with me and she told me she had suffered the same as I had. She said the only medicine she tried was Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and she advised it to me. I sent to the drug store and got a bottle and now I am on the fourth one. Where before I was dizzy, tired and 'all in' in every way, now I can eat and enjoy my meals, am gaining in flesh and able to do more work. You may be sure that I will tell others who are suffering like I was."—Mrs. Gilbert Ball, Box 103, R. R. No. 1, Simcoe, Ontario.

GRANNY FOX IS FOUND OUT

By THORNTON W. BURGESS
(Copyright)

Granny Fox is sly and wise
And seldom taken by surprise,
But wisdom wrongly put to use
Can never find a good excuse.
It ceases, then, to wisdom be,
But foolishness, as you shall see.

When Granny Fox had gone to Prickly Porky the Porcupine with an untrue story about how Old Man Coyote had boasted that he would dine on porcupine the first time he met Prickly Porkly, and had then gone to Old Man Coyote with an untrue story about how Prickly Porky had boasted that he would drive Old Man Coyote out of the Green Forest, she had thought herself very smart and clever. She knew that both would become very angry and that they would be sure to fight the very first time they met. And she was sure that if they did fight Old Man Coyote would get hurt, for she suspected that he had never met Prickly Porky, and so knew nothing about his terrible little spears. You see, what she wanted was to have Old Man Coyote driven away from the Green Forest and the Green Meadows, for she is afraid of him, and she was also afraid that he would spoil the hunting for herself and Reddy Fox.

He stopped and suddenly looked very hard.

Now with all her smartnes and all her cleverness old Granny Fox made one great mistake. Yes, sir, old Granny Fox made one great mistake. You see, she had become so used to being thought the smartest and cleverest of all the little people who live on the Green Meadows and around the Smiling Pool and in the Green Forest that she had come to believe that there couldn't be anybody anywhere as smart and clever as she. That was because she didn't know Old Man Coyote. And now as she and Reddy Fox watched from their hiding place the meeting between the Prairie Wolf and Prickly Porky, she felt a sudden sharp sting in her pride. Old Man Coyote had proved himself too smart for Prickly Porky. She ground her teeth as she heard him laughing fit to kill hhimself, as he kept out of Prickly Porky's reach, and she ground them still more as she heard him say:

"You will boast that you will drive me out of the Green Forest, will you, Mr. Porcupine? The time to brag will be when you have done it."

Prickly Porky stopped short in the middle of one of his clumsy rushes.

"Boaster and bragger yourself!" he grunted. "You don't seem to be dining on Porcupine the first time we've met! Why don't you? Why don't you make your own boast good?"

Old Man Coyote stopped laughing and pricked up his ears.

"What's that?" he demanded. "What's that? Somebody has been filling your ears with something that is very like a lie, Mr. Porcupine."

"No more than they have yours, Mr. Coyote," replied Prickly Porky, letting his thousand little spears drop part way back into his coat. "But old Granny Fox told me."

"Ha! So it was Granny Fox!" interrupted Old Man Coyote. "So it was old Granny Fox! Well, it was the same old mischief-maker who told me that—" He stopped and looked very hard at the place where Granny and Reddy were hiding. Then he made a long jump in that direction. Granny and Reddy didn't wait for him. They started for home so fast that they looked like nothing but two little red streaks disappearing among the trees.

"Ha, ha, ha! Ho, ho, ho! Hee, hee, hee!! Ha ho, hee, ho!" laughed Old Man Coyote, and all the little meadow and forest people who were looking on laughed with him. Then he turned to Prickly Porky. "I guess you and I are going to be friends," he said.

"I guess we are," replied Prickly Porky, and all his little spears dropped out of sight.

DOROTHY DIX

"People Marry for Love, for Near-Love, for Homes, Because They Are Lonesome and Because It Is Not Good for Man to Be Alone—And This Goes Double for Women," says Dorothy Dix

A bachelor correspondent asks: "Why do people marry?"

That is the unsolved conundrum of the universe, brother. That is the riddle that the Sphinx, who is an old maid, broods over in her desert solitude. My guess is that it is because women are cleverer and more artful than men and outplay them, for the great majority of men start out in life with the settled determination not to marry, and practically every woman from her babyhood up is bent on marrying. And in the end the wedding bells peal forth.

Still nobody knows why people get married, and especially why they marry the ones they do marry. At every wedding you hear a subdued murmur running through the church of those present asking each other: "What in the world ever made him pick out HER for a wife?" And: "What do you suppose she ever saw in HIM that made her want to marry him?"

Furthermore, if most husbands and wives were asked why they married and how they came to select each other for mates, they could not tell to save their lives. It just happened that way, like any other streak of good or bad luck.

Of course, most people think that they marry for love. Sometimes this is true. Sometimes a man and woman are predestined mates, between whom Nature has forged a bond stronger than life, stronger than death. They fill each other's every need of body and soul, and existence would be cinders, ashes and dust to each without the other. So they marry and are friends, lovers, comrades to the end. Such a couple never tire of each other. There is never any diminution of their affection, never any philandering, never any divorce.

Many other people marry because they think themselves in love when they are not. They have diagnosed their symptoms incorrectly. They mistake the call of the flesh for the heart call.

They think that a passing physical attraction is deathless devotion. They are young, and in love with love, and sloshing over with romance that they are dying to bestow on some one and they can see their mates in any passable looking youth or maiden. They are like the sextette in Floradora who used to sing: "I must love somebody, and it might as well be you." They must marry somebody and it might as well be Bill as Tom, or Sally as Sue.

It is these people who were merely grazed by Cupid's arrow instead of having been plunked through and through by the fatal dart, and to whom fate handed out a synthetic love potion instead of the real thing, who find marriage a failure. For their love does not stand the acid test of living together.

As soon as the gilt wears off of the gingerbread of matrimony, they get fed up on it. Their passion soon burns itself out and nothing is left but the things they quarrel and fight over. These are the marriages that furnish grist for the divorce mill, and that keep disillusioned husbands and wives wondering what on earth made them do such a fool thing as they did when they got married.

An amazingly small number of people marry for money, considering that that is about the easiest of all the get-rich-quick methods. Occasionally a young girl sells herself to a rich old man, and a young man marries a woman old enough to be his grandmother for the sake of her pocketbook. But, in the main, in this country marriage is not a graft, and it is a notable fact that wealthy girls have fewer beaux and fewer opportunities to marry them than poor girls have. The census shows that there are more old maids among millionairesses than among any other class of women.

Many girls marry because they are tired of work. They are tired of punching the time clock every morning and of having to keep regular office hours. They want to be able to turn over and take another snooze when the alarm goes off at 7 o'clock, and to spend the morning slopping around the house in a kimono, and the afternoon in going to the movies or bargain-hunting.

Many other girls marry because they are domestic by nature and prefer housework to office work, and thousands upon thousands of girls marry because all the other girls are doing it, and they feel it is sort of a reflection upon them, as if they lacked charm and had been passed over, if they don't marry. Also they fear that if they don't marry when they are young they may not be able to marry later on, and they don't want to be old maids.

A single woman at 30 gets into a sort of a panic at the prospect of going husbandless and childless and homeless through life in which she will marry anything in trousers that asks her. It is then that she takes the suitor that she has refused a dozen times, or the poor man with a house full of olive branches.

Widows and widowers nearly always marry because they are lonesome and because they want homes. They may not have been very happily married before. They may have resented the restrictions of matrimony and craved freedom while they were bound, but the one thing that marriage does is to unfit a man and woman for any other life. They have got housebroken. They have got accustomed to the yoke and their necks are uncomfortable without it.

The man wants somebody to come home to at night who will have the lights lit, and the hearth fire burning, and the things he likes to eat cooked the way he likes them, and the woman wants somebody to keep house for, somebody to get up a good dinner for. They both want somebody to talk to of an evening, somebody to go out with, somebody even to quarrel with.

The reason why most widowers marry as soon as they decently can, especially if they have children, is to save themselves from bankruptcy. Wife labor is scab labor, and by the time a man has paid half a dozen women to do the cooking and sewing and scrubbing and mending that a wife does for her board and clothes, he knows that marriage is a holy institution, ordained of Heaven.

So the answer to the query: Why do people marry is that they marry for love and near-love, for homes, because they are lonesome, and because it is not good for man to be alone. And this goes double for women.

DOROTHY DIX.

SHOP TALK

BY

TABBY AND TINK

"Where are you going, my pretty maid?" asked Tink in a very false contralto as I pulled my new little soft hat of mother goose kasha down over my eyes, so that the red and blue parrot perched on the little tucks that formed the brim were quite exactly in front.

"I'm going a-shopping, sir, she said," I answered, flicking a speck of dust off my two-tone tan sport shoes and tying the new striped laces a bit tighter. "Come on in and you can also ran if you like, and we'll drop in some place for a cup of tea. What say you?"

Tink answered by opening the screen door and walking slowly inside.

"Funny you couldn't stay in once in a while when a neighbor drops around with her knitting. See?"

She held up a great gay bag woven in the brightest of colored straw and opened it wide enough to disclose a rather startling array of assorted wools.

"I saw the loveliest knitted suit the other day and I'm going to have one like it. It was done in a saxe blue and hung just like a soft jersey. The blouse part was full and closely knitted of fine wool, until it looked like a soft material, and around the cuffs and on the collar and on the little patch pockets were the gayest sorts of embroidered designs in a perfect rainbow of colors. It was beautiful, especially with the dark blue belt and shoes the girl wore with it."

"Tink," I said solemnly as I followed her out of the house and down the street, "do you mean to pretend that you are going to stick with that?"

"Well, even if I don't, I'll make an adorable little summer sweater. So many of the girls have them, in all those gay shades or pastel tones. They're awfully simple to knit, and you just make them straight and plain, with a square or V-neck or a little white collar and practically no sleeves at all. Then you get a pretty belt and there you are."

We were quite well away and down town before we passed the man with the green shirt.

"Can spring be far behind?" chanted Tink solemnly, turning to catch a parting vision. His tie was of a darker green, and even his suit had a green tinge to its rather rough tweed. His hat had a green band.

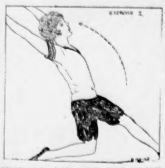
"Color harmony, my dear, harmony! Now, in that little green kasha sport suit of yours with the dark green suede belt and the scarf collar tied at something the same jaunty angle he wears his hat, you would make a good pair for the boardwalk," I teased as we turned into one of the shops.

Graduation frocks were well to the fore with frills, flounces and flutters to delight the heart of the sweet girl graduate. Simple little white crepe de chenes with smart lines would take easily to a touch of color—a flower or a gay scarf, perhaps—after the great day, and do quite suitably for the afternoon tea or garden party of later summer. Of course, the soft georgettes with their fine tucks and frilly skirts and high girdles for slim young waists would be adorable, and would do quite nicely for parties that will go on, hot weather or no.

Grierson street dump, which is on fire in several places, is causing the city considerable trouble, and the fire department is taking steps to get at the blaze, which is burning deep down in the dump.

Milady Beautiful

By LOIS LEEDS



EXERCISE FOR THE TOP-HEAVY FIGURES

Milady's figure is often one of her greatest beauty problems. If it is too thin or too stout her clothes do not hang becomingly, and she cannot wear fashionably short skirts without feeling self-conscious about the ungraceful lines of her legs. There is a type of figure, also, that combines the disadvantages of both the fat and the lean. The upper part of this figure is too large in proportion to the lower part. Thighs and calves need developing, while the hips, abdomen and back need reducing. Frequently a woman of this type is neither overweight nor underweight for age and height, but her flesh is unevenly distributed.

Hers is a difficult problem because if she follows the usual reducing program including diet and strenuous exercise she becomes thin in the face and limbs where she really needs more curves. What she needs is a few exercises that are designed especially for correcting her defects. These will be chiefly trunk bending and twisting movements. Here are some exercises suitable for her purpose:

Exercise 1—Kneel down on the right knee with the left leg stretched out in front with knee slightly bent so that the foot may be braced firmly on the floor. Raise arms above the head and swing the upper part of the trunk backward. Feel the pull of the muscles all down the front. Slowly raise trunk to erect position and repeat exercises four to six times. This is fine for reducing the pad of fat under the bust and also the abdomen.

Exercise 2—Stand erect with arms out at shoulder level. Without moving the hips twist the trunk as far as you can to the right. Bend the trunk, raise it and twist around to the front again. Repeat six times to each side.

Exercise 3—Stand erect, bend forward and swing hands between the legs. Raise and repeat slowly four to six times. This is good for the muscles over the abdomen and back.

Exercise 4—Lie on the floor. Raise hips and legs up from the floor. Do the bicycle exercise upside down. This is excellent for reducing fat backs and strengthening the leg muscles.

Swimming and walking are among the best exercises for developing well-formed legs. These exercises should be taken slowly and should not be overdone by the woman who wants to add more flesh to her lower limbs.

In order to avoid disappointment one should realize that while it is possible to correct defects in the figure, one cannot change one's type entirely. The woman whose hips are naturally broad cannot develop a boyish form under any circumstances. Some people are naturally thin in the face; others are naturally plump. Some inherit a tendency to be heavier above the thighs than below; others are small above and yet have large legs. These variations from the ideal can be mitigated by exercise, correct posture and careful costuming. But they cannot be entirely overcome.

Tomorrow—Beauty Questions Answered

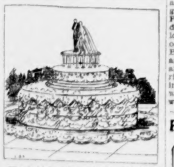
Perhaps your hands have grown quite hard lately and you don't know just what to do for them. Lois Leeds has just completed a new leaflet on "HOW TO KEEP THE HANDS WHITE AND SOFT" and she will be glad to forward one to you on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Address her in care of this column.

Among those who will attend the annual general meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers' association to be held on the S.S. St. Lawrence, June 4 to 7 while making a trip down to the Saguenay river, are: R. J. Hutchins, second vice-president, C.M.A., of Calgary; Charles Pratt, chairman of the Alberta branch of the C.M.A., who will be accompanied by Mrs. Pratt; G. W. Green, of Lethbridge, and Mrs. Green; and J. G. and Mrs. Waford, of Calgary.

A meeting of the finance committee of the council called for Tuesday afternoon has been cancelled owing to the illness of Commissioner Mitchell, who was to report on several matters coming before the committee.

What's What

By HELEN DECIE



The bride's cake occupies the center of the bridal table. It may be two, three or four stories high, surmounted by an ornament of white flowers, or, as illustrated by two confectionery figures of a bride and groom.

Wedding cakes should be ordered at least a week in advance of the date, so that the chosen ornamentation may be assured. Nowadays, the bride makes only the first cut in the bridal cake. Afterward, each usher and bridesmand may help himself or herself to a slice. When foil-wrapped "fortune favors" are baked in the cake, a line of demarkation is made to separate the bridesmaid's half from that of the ushers. The articles found in the slices are a tiny dog or cat to denote bachelorhood or spinsterhood, a ring for marriage, dice for luck, a dime for wealth, etc.

The wedding cake, as distinguished from the bride's cake, is a rich fruitcake, iced, cut and packed in small white boxes, one of which is placed at each plate.

A leaflet, "What's What in Wedding Etiquette," will be sent on receipt of a long envelope, stamped and addressed.

FEAR COLLAPSE OF LARGE DAM

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, May 23—The weakened Scofield dam, which engineers feared would collapse and flood a large farming district south of here, was reported today to be withstanding the pressure of about 60,000 acre feet of water without definite indications of a break.

Arrival of 200 more volunteers to aid 300 odd men who worked yesterday and last night to erect a dyke to reinforce the main structure was said to have enabled engineers to partially control leaks in the huge structure. However, those in charge said the seepage had not been fully stopped.

Strengthening of the temporary dyke was effected after water started pouring over it, threatening to wash out some of the sand bags and bales of hay used in its construction. When a section of the dyke settled, reports were circulated that collapse of the main dam was imminent. Upwards of 12,000 residents of the territory below the dam either left for higher ground or were ready to flee should the structure break. The towns of Price, Castlegate, Colton and Helper would be menaced if the structure should break.

Heavy Losses From Saskatchewan Fire

ROSETOWN, Sask., May 23.—Fire which broke out in the business section of Main street here Monday morning did more than $11,000 damage before it was brought under control. The flames ate their way through several of the town's business houses and totally destroyed Randall's photo gallery, where the outbreak occurred. Five thousand dollars damage was done to the Unique theatre. Other losses follow: W. A. Bickle building occupied by James Smart and Miss Brownridge, $500, covered by insurance; James Smart, gents' furnishings and tailor shop, $1,000; Miss Brownridge, millinery, $800, both covered by insurance. The moving picture house was insured, but the photo gallery was not.

MARINES' MASCOT

MYSTERY MAN REVEALED IN A NEW LIGHT

In the Royal British Air force, stationed somewhere on the Indian border, is an obscure flier by the name of T. E. Shaw. He is, to all intents and purposes, no different from the hundred-and-one other airmen of his majesty's force. Insofar as the world is concerned he might as well be "John Doe," or any other anonymous person.

Yet "T. E. Shaw" is one of the two or three most amazing individuals the world of romance and adventure has produced in the present century. Only our own Lindbergh can begin to tie him in the present day, yet even Lindy might have to take the count on points.

Lindy lacks the element of mystery that surrounds this other. For "T. E. Shaw" is a sobriquet behind which hides Lawrence of Arabia, who seems to this survey just about the most intriguing personality to be found either in fiction or fact.

• • •

Lawrence of Arabia had the world at his feet. Or could have had. Oxford graduate, scholar, poet, archeologist and Orientologist, T. E. Lawrence became a spy for the British government during the World War.

Thanks to his scholarly background, he could speak the language of the nomadic desert tribes as well as his own Anglo-Saxon tongue. Suddenly, out in the Arabian desert, appeared a strange "uncrowned king of three nations," a new leader of the disorganized desert tribes. He had come out of nowhere, a youth of 26, a white youth who passed as a tribesman and a fellow—a feat which, in itself, seems incredible.

LAWRENCE

Today's most romantic figure

This was Lawrence of Arabia and, while the rest of the world battled across western Europe, Lawrence ruled Arabia—a mysterious, almost fabulous potentate. And, by fomenting the Arab tribes to revolt, he check-mated the Turkish empire. Lone-handed, poet-scholar had won a war within a war. In all the fantastic tales of men there is nothing to equal this exploit. He had altered the destiny of nations. Yet today we find this same young man hiding behind an assumed name, going about the daily routine of an army flier at a foreign outpost. Why?

• • •

The question and many another concerning this inscrutible enigma are tackled by Robert Graves, the British poet, in his book, "Lawrence and the Arabian Adventure" (Doubleday-Doran). Graves was one of Lawrence's most intimate friends.

Graves, with all due respect to his efforts to explain Lawrence, seems to us to succeed only in part. He does put his finger on certain psychological quirks and he does explain to us a few things. But there is a lot left to be answered. For which we are grateful. Our own preference is for the baffling qualities of this man.

Anyone who has followed his story already knows that Lawrence, after his adventure, tried to keep faith with the tribesmen at the Geneva conference and found himself blocked by international politics; that he made no pretense of his disgust; that he spurned the decorations offered him by the British king and shouted his indignation at what he branded as double-dealing; that he quickly stepped into the background and became a private in the British tank corps, disappearing finally in the air squad.

How to explain this man? Graves gives one the impression that Lawrence cannot reform to the herd life re finds about him. He is an individualist; he has lost confidence in his leaders and cannot follow; he will not compromise or make concessions and so he ceases to be Lawrence. He becomes another man, maintains his honor and dignity and self-respect, and asks nothing of any man. He is just another flier; a fellow who maintains his freedom of spirit.

MONTREAL, May 23.—The steamship Rio Diamante, which is now in port here, is an innovation in steamships. The ship is a novelty in that she does not have straight sides, but is curved in and out like a sheet of corrugated iron. RESEARCHES IN EDUCATION ARE NOW UNDER WAY

Location and encouragement of mathematical talent in public school pupils and diagnostic work leading to the discovery of various types of pupil difficulties in actual school work, are two of the problems which will concern the educational research committee of the Alberta Teachers' Alliance during the coming year, according to an announcement of officials on Tuesday.

In addition the Alliance will devote considerable thought and attention to research in the matter of vocational guidance of pupils; investigation and study of various types of supervisory and administrative units applicable to the present educational situation; and standardization of tests for the various courses of study in the public schools.

The research committee of the Alliance was formed with a view to giving information to teachers and public on current educational systems, procedure problems and recent educational development. Investigations ordered by large city school boards, frequent criticisms of the course of studies as unsuitable, criticism of methodology and results of instruction; of examinations and the alleged cluttering up of secondary schools with unsuitable material evidenced a belief, rightly or wrongly stated one official, that something was wrong with the educational system.

With a view to dealing with this situation, the Alliance appointed a special committee, not necessarily members of the organization, as follows: Dr. Lazerte, U. of A.; L. H. Bennett, provincial school of technology, Calgary; H. C. Newland, C. B. Willis, Miss Mary R. Crawford, W. Wees and D. L. Shortliffe, Edmonton; Miss Mary Fowler, Medicine Hat, and members of the provincial executive.

Lawn Bowling

The opening game of the Highland Lawn Bowling club will take place on the Highland greens tonight when the president, F. Urquhart, and vice-president, Guy Deeton, will compete for the honor of winning the first game of the season.

The outlook for the year seems very promising. Already, quite a number of enthusiastic bowlers have signified their intention of joining this season. Five skips were elected at the annual meeting. The first game with a city club will be on June 6. The women would like as many players as possible out this evening in order that they may complete arrangements for competing in the city championship competition.

The list of members must be in the hands of the secretaries of all the city clubs before the first game. In the A. O. McKay Competition the club is in line for the second game.

Mr. Urquhart urgently requests every intending bowler in the Highlands district to come not later than 7:30 tonight to the greens on the corner of 63 St. and Jasper Avenue.

WHEN A GIRL LOVES

By RUTH DEWEY GROVES

"You think you know what love is," Dean sneered. "Why you haven't even tasted life yet."

THIS HAS HAPPENED

NATHANIEL DANN, an artist, is engaged to VIRGINIA BREWSTER, whose father dies suddenly after losing his fortune. NIEL begs her to marry him at once, but FREDERICK DEAN and his daughter CLARISSA persuade her to make her temporary home with them. This angers NIEL for he suspects DEAN'S motives.

VIRGINIA become unhappy in her new home and resolves to tell NIEL her fears. But when she phones his studio late at night his model, CHIRI, answers. This causes doubt and a lovers' quarrel which is later mended.

Hoping to get NIEL out of the way, DEAN has a company he controls, and he offers NIEL a high-salaried commercial position in San Francisco. NIEL is overjoyed and begs VIRGINIA to marry and go west with him. But she refuses to let him sacrifice his art study.

VIRGINIA is involved in trouble with CLARISSA when the latter's fiance, RUSSELL WAINGOULD, catches her unexpectedly in a half-drunken embrace. CLARISSA accuses her of trying to marry money and VIRGINIA resolves to leave the house immediately.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XIII

Did Dean believe, as Clarissa, that Virginia would throw Niel over for money?

Virginia swayed in dismay at the thought and put out a hand to steady herself. "No, no," she cried under her breath, "he couldn't! He knows how much I love Niel."

She struggled to put the shocking impression out of her mind, but memory mocked her. What about those fatherly caresses? Weren't they just a little warmer than they used to be? Merely sympathy, she tried to tell herself. But deep in her heart she knew differently . . . knew that something more than sympathy was the reason for the subtle change in Frederick Dean's manner toward her of late.

It could mean only one thing, reason insisted. Dean must have believed his attentions would be welcome. And if that was the way he felt about it, then he evidently judged her as his daughter did.

Virginia could not be insensible to this situation. She knew that father and daughter shared the same thought concerning her. And the knowledge roused in her an overwhelming impulse to show them both how mistaken they were. She no longer needed to draw upon her courage to face Dean. It had not been her intention to tell him what Clarissa had accused her of, but now she wanted to do something, say something, to defend herself against their unjust estimation of her.

Her steps grew brisker as she moved up to the door and walked into the presence of the man she felt was her enemy.

"Come over here," he invited from a comfortable davenport. Virginia walked determinedly over, but as he rose to meet her she suddenly sat down in a chair a few feet away from him.

Dean reseated himself, folded up the newspaper he had been reading, and looked at her inquiringly. His first glance had shown him that she was agitated, perhaps angry, and caution prompted him to let her be the first to speak.

"I've come down to tell you that I shall pack my things and leave your house immediately," she said, plunging in without preliminaries.

"Why, my dear, what is the matter? Has something gone wrong?"

"It's hardly worth while discussing it in detail," Virginia declared firmly. "I think I've made a mistake in refusing to do as Nathaniel wishes and I'm going to live in a hotel until we can be married without improper haste."

Dean leaned forward, a touch of consternation written upon his aristocratically handsome features. "Do you realize what you are saying?" he asked in a voice that convinced Virginia he doubted her sincerity.

Her lips tightened until they were no longer the color of red roses and her chin lifted high from the delicate curve of her white throat.

"Perfectly," she said glacially, and stopped there.

"But you must have some reason, some explanation," the man expostulated. "Surely you can't throw my hospitality in my face in this manner simply because you feel you have made a mistake about your plans."

Virginia could not accept the charge of ingratitude and remain silent.

"Of course there is an explanation," she admitted defensively. "I've learned why Clarissa wished to have me here, and I've also discovered that my coming is misunderstood."

"By Clarissa? She is not the head of this house, let me remind you, Virginia." He smiled placatingly and his deep-set eyes glinted with eagerness.

"If Clarissa could misunderstand me others could do the same," Virginia remarked pointedly.

Dean's smile vanished instantly and his eyes appeared to become lost under his heavy eyelids. There was a pause in which Virginia's words seemed to hang in the air like bombshells about to explode. Dean broke the silence, speaking very gently.

"Won't you tell me all about it?" he asked. "I cannot always find excuses for Clarissa, but you see it is I and not she whom you are taking to task."

"I'm not taking anyone to task," Virginia denied; "but if you insist I'll have to tell you. Clarissa has a shameful idea that I would give up Niel if—if someone with more money wanted to marry me."

Dean almost permitted himself to smile again. "To Clarissa that would not be shameful, I'm afraid," he said. "Certainly she would never consider she was insulting you with that idea. She would call it the only thing to do, no doubt." His words held a note of regret and apology, but it struck Virginia that he was in complete accord with his daughter's views.

"It's the last thing I'd do," she stated emphatically.

"Oh come now, Virginia. You're in no state of mind to make decisions that will affect your whole life—perhaps make a mess of it. Be sensible and go up and dress for dinner. We're dining alone, I understand, and I assure you I shall enjoy it greatly. I'll speak to Clarissa tomorrow."

Virginia got up from her chair and Dean walked over to the door to open it for her. "Please understand that I am leaving at once," she told him positively.

For answer he closed the door again and put his back against it.

"Are you really in earnest?" he queried unbelievingly.

His doubt of her sincerity angered Virginia still further.

"Do you think I would remain here where no one seems to care anything about loyalty or—or even love?" she flamed at him.

"But how do you know that no one here cares about love?" Dean retorted instantly. "I imagine there's a love so obsessing that you've never dreamed of it," he went on excitedly. "What do you know about passion or desire? Have you ever yearned with every fibre in your body to fulfil your dreams? You're too young to know what it's like to feel starved, to want to live again, to get back your youth." He stopped, panting a little and slightly flushed.

Virginia's eyes were fastened upon him in something akin to terror. His outburst of emotion was like a series of electric shocks to her, shaking her and filling her with apprehension.

"Please—open the door," she begged, hardly above a whisper.

"Not yet,' 'he refused; "not until I tell you something more about love, my cold one." He came toward her and Virginia stepped back to escape his outstretched hands. She looked beyond him at the door but he was still too near it for her to get past him.

"Don't be alarmed," he said, observing her fright. "I shall do nothing but talk to you and as you have expressed your opinion of me and Clarissa you must be fair enough to hear what I have to say."

Virginit retreated another step. This brought her to a chair and she sank into it helplessly.

"You think you know what love is," Dean sneered. "Why, you haven't even tasted life yet. And you're willing to let a foolish infatuation for a young upstart rob you of your birthright, the only kind of life you know how to live. I hoped you would come to your senses in time and get rid of him, but since matters have been precipitated by Clarissa's blundering you might as well know that I intended to offer you a chance to live as you were reared, in luxury, before you could marry that jackanapes."

"Oh, you are even worse than I thought," Virginia cried furiously. "I guessed you must think I'd listen to such a horrid proposal, but I never dreamed that you would make it."

"Then you must be a trifle thick, my dear," Dean returned smoothly, not at all offended. "For it isn't so absurd as you seem to think. You are the prettiest girl I know, and a charming one. I'm bored with smart women who hunt big game in the Social Register. And you've lost a fortune. That puts each of us in need of the other. It's perhaps a little drawback that I'm not your age, but nothing is perfect in this world, and I assure you I've had younger girls than you are litterally thrown at my head by mothers I've known since their debuts."

He stood before her now, his ease of manner completely restored and his voice back to its normal, agreeable accents. He even permitted a smile to rest lightly upon his thin-cut lips.

"You and Clarissa both seem to have suffered at the hands of fortune hunters," Virginia said scornfully. "But if you find it so easy to buy what you want—a wife that is young and pretty—why have you chosen to insult me with the offer?"

"Because, my dear, you are more than young and pretty. You're something that I want above all else in the world. You see, you have the power to stir my imagination," he added candidly.

Virginia flushed painfully under the direct gaze he sent upon her. Her temples throbbed with the rush of blood to her head and she was conscious for the first time in her life that desire could be degrading.

"I wouldn't marry you if I were starving," she cried, jumping to her feet. Dean let her get to the door before he answered.

"But I think you would to redeem your father's honor," he said slowly.

Harness And Running Races At Exhibition Grounds Tomorrow Afternoon

MANY FINE HORSES ENTERED FOR VICTORIA DAY MEET

Large Number of Outside Entries Add to Interest—Both Harness and Running Events Included on Program Which Has Been Arranged

According to the dopesters of the weatherman's form, it will be an ideal day tomorrow and that, incidentally, is just what President Percy Abbott is looking for when the Victoria Day races are scheduled to be held at the Exhibition Grounds, starting at 1:30 o'clock.

A splendid program has been arranged for by the officials and local patrons of racing are assured of an entertaining afternoon of their favorite sport.

Many outside horses have been stabled here for some time now and according to their owners, they are ready to go.

FRANK DYNES WILL PILOT TWO HORSES

Frank E. Dynes, manager of the Hudson's Bay Company's store here, is slated to drive in two of the harness events tomorrow. Mr. Dynes is an experienced driver and has won many honors in the eastern United States competing against some of the finest drivers on the American turf.

In the opening race, Mr. Dynes will drive Evelyn Grattan, owned by J. Boyle of Regina, Saskatchewan, and in the free-for-all, which is the third race on the program, he will pilot Peter Farrow, one of the finest harness horses in the west and the property of Mr. Dynes.

Al Vance is also here with three horses. Al has been following the "circuit" for years, driving and managing a string of fast horses. Eddie McKellar, another well-known horseman, will also do considerable driving. Gordon Morrison, A. B. Brault, George Rice, C. Powers, Ed. White, Bob Bowman and one or two others, are the remaining drivers in the harness races.

John Salo Is Still Cutting Payne's Lead

LIBERTY, N. Y., May 23.—Finishing second on the 59.1 mile lap from Deposit to Liberty, N. Y., Tuesday, John Salo, Passaic, N. J., Finn, further reduced the lead Andy Payne, youthful Oklahoman, holds over the field in C. C. Pyle's transcontinental foot race.

Giusto Umek, of Italy, set the pace for the 55 bunioners by covering the lap in 9, 57, 47. His elapsed time is 617, 03, 33 for the 3,289.4 miles from Los Angeles.

Nearly an hour behind Umek came Salo, doggedly cutting into Payne's lead. Salo's time for the lap, 10, 57, 35, gave him an elapsed time of 564, 09, 11. At the start of the day's lap, Payne held a lead of more than 16 hours over the Passaic star.

By KEN McCONNELL

Edmonton is to have another basketball series after all!

Like a bolt out of the blue came a telegram from the Eastern Canadian Basketball Association last night gently but firmly notifying the Grads that the Dalhousie University girls, of Halifax, would board the rattler in a few days' time, and would expect the Grads to be at the station to greet them with open arms!

Yes, sir, Thursday and Saturday of next week—to wit, May 31 and June 2—are the dates selected for another set of "Canadian finals." And now the Grads have to pull out their "unies" from the bottom of their suitcases and trot out to the Arena to meet the girls from far-away Halifax.

* * *

Speaking of "Stormy petrels," this Atlantic coast quintet is just about in a class by themselves. Last year it will be remembered that they yelled "blue molder" because they did not get a chance to meet the winner of the Grad-Lakeside series which was staged in Toronto. At that time, the Halifax girls were entered in what was known as an intercollegiate league, using girls' rules.

When it came time for the interprovincial playdowns, it was found that the financial end of the program was too big an item, and the playoffs never took place. As a result, they found themselves out in the cold, and immediately set up a howl because they were not admitted at the last moment to the Canadian Basketball Association finals.

* * *

This year things are again all out of gear so far as the far eastern girls are concerned. This time, they took good care to enter in the Canadian Basketball Association, and after winning the championship of Nova Scotia, they played off with St. John for the maritime title, which they won in fairly easy fashion.

In the meantime, the Toronto Lakesides stole a match on the Halifax lassies, and came out to Edmonton, going down before the Grads in an honest-to-gosh pair of battles on April 21 and 23.

Then ensued a bloodless, but by no means wordless, battle in the far east. Halifax accused the Toronto ladies of "slipping one over," while the Toronto ladies were unkind enough to remark that Nova Scotia representatives were asleep at the switch and didn't even know that a series was on until it was all over.

At any rate, fireworks of an order that would put the well-known firm of Hand's to shame, have been the order of the day since the Lakesides got back to Toronto. Finally, in order to see "what was what," a Toronto lawyer was given the pleasant assignment of finding the criminal in the piece, and after due consideration he compromised by attaching blame to both parties—the Lakesides, because they were a bit too hasty in their actions, and the Eastern Canadian Basketball Association, because they were not on the job when the Lakesides announced their intention of hitting the trail to Edmonton.

The upshot of the situation was that the Lakesides were ordered to bring Halifax to Toronto, or to play a sudden-death game in Montreal, and pay all the expenses of the Halifax girls—both of which propositions were promptly turned down. The Eastern association there-upon awarded the Halifax girls the eastern title by default, relegated the Lakesides to "durance vile" and told the Dalhousie co-eds to hop aboard the train for Edmonton.

* * *

All of which doesn't make very pleasant reading for the Grads who figured that they had already played just about enough "near champions," and that the Canadian title for 1928 was theirs.

It wouldn't be so bad if Halifax were no farther away than Calgary—but to bring a team almost across the entire continent is a horse of another color. It's easy enough, of course, for the fans to rise up on their hind legs and tell the Grads to let these maritime basketeers stay in Halifax, but it's another proposition when it comes to getting the Eastern Canadian Basketball association, who by reason of their affiliation with the Dominion body, and indirectly with the A.A.U. of Canada, are in a position to "queer" the Grads' trip to Europe. And don't imagine for a moment they wouldn't try to do that little thing, for as a matter of fact, only two days ago the Grads received a threatening telegram from the amateur union to stop the Grads from going over the water unless they first met the Dalhousie Varsity girls. Tie that one, Mr. Fan, if you can!

* * *

It's a tough proposition for the local girls to find themselves in, for with the advent of warm weather, golf, baseball, and "what have you", these sports are in more popular demand than basketball. However, if we know the fans of Edmonton, they will not sit back and watch the Grads fight their latest battle—the financial side of which is the thing the girls are most afraid of—without realizing that the girls are in a mighty tough predicament, and, once this situation is realized, we feel sure that the fans can be depended upon to "kick through" as they have done in the past when the team was most in need.

* * *

There is practically only a week before the first game, and it will take a lot of real hustling on the part of the Grad boosters to put this series over. Immediately upon receiving notice that they had to play, the girls turned out for practice.

Every member of the team was on the job, including the old reliable Katherine (herself) Macrae. The girls can be depended upon to show these aspiring hoopsters from Nova Scotia what the game is all about, and it's now up to the fans to see that they're out there when the performance starts.

* * *

By the way, P. J. Mulqueen, chairman of the Canadian Olympic committee, passed through the city this morning enroute to Vancouver where he has a meeting scheduled, it is thought, with the officials of the New Westminster Lacrosse team, champions of the Dominion.

Probably this trouble, over the four reinstated professionals, will be satisfactorily patched up with Mr. Mulqueen personally interviewing the coast officials.

His trip was a quiet one, not even prominent officials here knowing of his journey to the coast.

YANKEES SLUG OUT VICTORY OVER BOSTON

Huggins' Crew Beat Red Red Sox 14-4 — Athletics Trim Griffmen

NEW YORK, May 23.—The Yankees enjoyed one of their old-fashioned slugging sprees here Tuesday, and defeated the Boston Red Sox, 14 to 4. The Yanks crashed out 22 hits for 38 bases. Babe Ruth's 13th home run, Gehrig's seventh and Meusel's fourth were included in the assortment of extra base drives.

Stanley Coveleskie went the route for the Yanks. He had the Red Sox shut until the 8th when Todt hit a home run with two on.

The Athletics took an 11 inning game from the Washington Senators at Philadelphia by a score of 7 to 6 when Eddie Collins drove Hale home with the winning tally. Collins also saved the game in the ninth inning with a double. Sam Jones hit a homer in the second inning.

Speedy Johnny Mostil, legging it all the way home from second base on a wild pitch by Uhle, scored the winning run that gave the White Sox a four to three victory over the Indians in their series opener at Chicago. Langford led the Indians' attack with a home run and two doubles.

Mostil's brilliant work in the field, however, was the bright light of the day, Johnny tying the world's record for centre fielding by handling 11 put outs and one assist without an error.

The wildness of Jack Ogden, St. Louis pitcher, in the first inning, enabled Detroit to get off to a four run lead and take the home series opener from the Browns, sixe to three.

BROOKLYN LOSES TO NEW YORK 9-5.

NEW YORK, May 23.—Dazzy Vance lost his effectiveness in the sixth inning at Brooklyn Tuesday and the Giants won the first game of their series 9 to 5. When Vance weakened, the infield went to pieces behind him.

Brandt held Philadelphia to three hits and Boston won its home-coming game 3 to 1. The Boston pitcher allowed the visitors but one hit until the ninth inning when Southern got a homer.

The Reds batted opportunely in the latter innings of the fourth game at Cincinnati with the Pirates to come from behind and score a 5 to 4 win. Doubles by Allen and Picinich in the eighth inning took the game out of a tie.

Hack Wilson's third home run at St. Louis in two days and the ninth of the season failed to give the Chicago Cubs the necessary incentive, and the St. Louis Cards won, Tuesday, 3 to 2. In losing the Cubs slipped into second place with the Cincinnati Reds climbing to the lead.

Bout Was Financial Setback for Rickard

NEW YORK, May 23.—It was stated that the gate for Monday night's title bout between Sammy Mandell, lightweight champion, and Jimmy McLarnin would not exceed $138,000. On this basis Mandell's percentage end would figure to be $52,000 and McLarnin's $17,000. This is quite a financial setback for Tex Rickard.

PUZZLING PLAYS of Baseball

By BILLY EVANS

FIELDER HAS RIGHT OF WAY

What are the rights of the fielder and the baserunner relative to a batted ball?

* * *

The fielder always has the right of way when making a play on a batted ball. He must be given clearance by the baserunner at all times.

BILLY EVANS

If a baserunner in any way comes into contact with a fielder making a play on a batted ball, he creates an interference. For this act he is ruled out. No bases can be run on such a play, except to make room for the batsman who is entitled to first base.

The baserunner can run as wide of the fielder as he sees fit in order to avoid interfering with him, unless he should have the ball in his hand waiting to make a touch play on the baserunner.

The moment the fielder makes a play on the ball, the baserunner must remain within the three-foot lines in advancing. If he avoids the fielder with the ball in his possession ready to make a touch play he can be called out for running out of line.

However, as long as the fielder is in the act of going after the ball, the baserunner can continue his course as he sees fit, just so that he does not come into contact with the fielder or by his actions, if he runs in front of the fielder, obscure his vision.

Running Races Open at Calgary Today

Exclusive to Bulletin

CALGARY, May 23.—The Prairie Thoroughbred Breeders Association open their spring race meet at Calgary today. The finest running horses in the west have been entered for the seven races that will be held every day until the end of the meeting.

Arrangements have been made to handle a big crowd and it is expected that all previous attendance records will be shattered.

THREE CHAMPS FALL TUESDAY

Cyril Tolley Loses Out in British Amateur Open

PRESTWICK, Scotland, May 23.—The second round of the British amateur golf championship played here Tuesday provdd the downfall of no less than three former champions and the present title holder, Dr. W. Tweddell, who was defeated by Major Hezlett, London Irishman and British international player. Cyril Tolley, for years the outstanding British amateur, was another who found the going too difficult. He was eliminated by A. R. MacCallum of South Staffordshire, five up and four to play.

The Tweddell-Hezlett match provided the most brilliant golf of the championship to date. The victor went out in 33 while Tweddell was right at his heels with 35. Coming home Hezlett had a 30 and Tweddell 32.

Tolley, in defeat, was truly a pathetic figure and the crowd became amused at his violent efforts to put length to his drives which were futile and lacked direction.

In addition to completing play in the first round, only half of the competitors entered having played through the first round Monday's. Tuesday's play also saw the completion of the second round.

LOOKING AT THE FUTURE

The Cleveland Indians know George Burns can't go on forever at first base. They use Lew Fonseca there at times now and have Glenn Bolton and Johnny Gill, the former once a pitcher and the latter an outfielder, out in minor leagues learning how to play the initial bag.

PAUL WANER IS LEADING HITTER

Rogers Hornsby Is in Second Place—Babe Is Third

NEW YORK, May 23.—The first five members of the Big Six scaled downward in the averages, Tuesday, while Harry Heilmann, in the cellar, added just one point to his mark. Rogers Hornsby, tied for the lead with Paul Waner for a day, dropped one point further than his Pittsburgh rival, who thus returned to the lead. The Big Six maulers accounted for six hits, distributed one to each member.

The Yanks smacked two Boston pitchers for 22 hits and 38 bases, but Ruth connected only once—for his 13th homer.

BULLETIN WILL PLAY LIBERALS IN BALL GAME

Scheduled Senior Amateur Match at Boyle Street Diamond Tonight

Tonight at Boyle Street diamond the Young Liberals and Bulletin tangle in the second Senior Amateur Baseball league game of the season. This is the first time either team has appeared this spring and fans will get their first opportunity of looking the boys over. Play will start at 7 o'clock.

HOLIDAY GAME THURSDAY

The Bulls, who dropped their first game against the Cubs on Monday by a very close margin, tangle in a scheduled league game tomorrow night at 7 o'clock with the Bulletin.

It is likely that "Chief" Gladu will do the pitching for the Stockyard team with McAllister or Eaton doing the twirling for the Bulletin.

Both of these clubs are operating under a new banner this summer. The Liberals were formerly the Independents while the Bulletin has taken over the N. W. Bruins of 1927.

Bartley Skipper

Jack Bartley, who has managed the Independents for a number of years, is still at the helm of the Young Liberals and he still has most of his last year's team together with a few newcomers who he has obtained to bolster up his lineup. The team looks very good in practice and they are likely to be right in the running from the start. Hugh Macdonald, who cavorted around the third cushion for the Bruins last season, is holding down third base job for the Liberals and he will add a lot of strength to the club.

Bartley has also signed a couple of new pitchers who have looked good in exhibition games. While he has not announced who will do the twirling tonight it is probable that he will use "Lee Meadows" McLear on the mound with either Patterson or Coatte doing the catching.

"Chuck" Heads Bulletin

Coach "Chuck" Henderson, of the Bulletin Bruins, has rounded up a likely-looking bunch of ball-tossers. He has a number of the Bruins of last year in addition to a few players who are playing their first season in the local senior league. All of them have looked good in practice this spring and appear to be in for a good season.

Bob Brown will probably be the Bulletin's pitching choice for this evening's game with Paul Runge on the receiving end of the battery. Brown is a newcomer to the local ranks and seems to have plenty of stuff.

Frank Drayton will call 'em.

SCONA TENNIS CLUB OPENS

Strathcona Tennis club will officially open the courts for the season on May 24 at 3 p.m. All members and prospective members are cordially invited. Refreshments will be served by the committee.

REPORTS SEND WHEAT UPWARD

WINNIPEG, May 23.—Bull forces made the most of the hot weather reports from western Canada and the United States northwest and west prices today advanced 2 to 2 7-8c on the extreme bulge with October leading the way. Closing prices were 1 to 1 7-8c higher. High temperatures were the rule over the greater part of the three prairie provinces and only three points, Edmonton, Red Deer and Vidor, in southern Alberta, reporting rain.

Trading was local in character.

There was good demand for all coarse grains, except flax. Spreads generally were unchanged.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, May 23—New upturns in the price of wheat resulted early today from persistent hot dry weather in the northwest. Opening unchanged to ¾c higher; wheat afterward showed a material advance all around.

Corn started at ⅛c off to ⅜c up and subsequently held near to the initial figures.

Winnipeg Grain Letter

WINNIPEG, May 23—Hot dry weather in Western Canada and the American Northwest and continued cold weather in Europe furnished the basis for another upturn in wheat. There was substantial buying for houses with eastern connections but profit-taking preceding the holiday checked the advance and caused moderate reaction at the close. Rain was reported in the Edmonton district overnight but otherwise the weather continues clear and warm. The vetoing of the McNarry Haughen bill by President Coolidge was encouraging to holders. The dock strike in the Argentine was reported practically settled. Liverpool cables closed 2⅛ to 1⅛ higher, while export business was reported to be of moderate proportions, but with better enquiry in evidence. Forecast is for fair and somewhat cooler in Western Canada and the American northwest. Many districts in the spring wheat territory are growing uneasy because of lack of moisture and continued dry weather would result in a sharp upturn. Aside from this, the European situation appears to warrant present prices.

Three per cent. rentes, 69 grancs, 40 centimes.

Five per cent. loan, 90 francs.

Exchange on London, 124 francs, 2½ centimes.

Livestock

EDMONTON STOCKYARDS, May 23—(D.L.B.)—Receipts: Cattle, 186; calves, 125.

There is a good tone in evidence on the market today, particularly on all grades of butcher females. Butcher cows and heifers are selling very readily at fairly steady to firm prices. Steers, particularly the heavier kind, are still inclined to be slow movers at draggy values. A good demand exists for all classes of stockers and this class is clearing very readily at fairly steady prices.

Following are the ruling prices—

Choice baby beef sold at $10 to $10.50. Choice handyweight steers bring up to $9.50. Bulk of good to choice steers are selling at $8.75 to $9.25; plain kinds, $8.25 down; medium, from $8.50 down. Cork-Province has been the most active trader in the Vancouver Stock Exchange for several months. Recommended by us last Fall at 8c, it has steadily appreciated with the advance of development.

The extensive ore bodies of high-grade silver-lead-zinc have justified the company in rushing to completion the conversion of the old mill into a modern plant, under the supervision of W. L. Zeigler, technical mill expert. The capacity will be about 100 tons per day.

The new $40,000 hydro-electric plant is well under way; the dam will be finished before the high water stage and when the mill is ready for concentration work adequate power will be available for year-round operations. The plant is expected to be operating at capacity this summer.

Development work leads us to believe that Cork-Province will rank second only to Whitewater in the entire Slocan mining area, and that this property will be one of the largest dividend-payers in that rich district.

THE CORPORATION: British Columbia Power Corporation, Limited, has been incorporated under the laws of the Dominion of Canada, to acquire the outstanding preferred ordinary stock and deferred ordinary stock and shares of British Columbia Electric Railway Company, Limited, a British company incorporated under the Companies' Act (Imperial) the corporation has already contracted for the purchase of more than 85% of the combined outstanding amounts of the above-mentioned stocks and shares, and offers are outstanding for the purchase of the remainder. Acquisition of the stocks and shares already contracted for will give the corporation control of the most extensive of public services in Western Canada.

BRITISH COLUMBIA ELECTRIC RAILWAY COMPANY, LIMITED: British Columbia Electric Railway Company, Limited, has operated successfully for more than thirty years directly, or through subsidiary companies, this undertaking is one of the largest hydro-electric-power producers in Canada. All the electricity used or sold in the system is developed by the company or its subsidiary companies. The aggregate ultimate horsepower available for development amounts to 638,800 h.p., of which 302,300 h.p. is now developed; the entire system serves over 98,000 customers with electric light or power, 38,700 customers with gas, and operates 353 miles of electric railway lines. It also owns and operates electric railway systems in Vancouver, Victoria, New Westminster, North Vancouver, South Vancouver, Point Grey and Burnaby in the province of British Columbia, as well as an extensive chain of interurban lines, and, in addition, supplies all the electric and gas services in these and a number of other important municipalities in British Columbia.

EARNINGS: The books and accounts of British Columbia Electric Railway Company, Limited, and subsidiary companies, have been examined by Messrs. Price, Waterhouse and Co., Chartered Accountants, Vancouver, and their report shows that combined earnings, after providing for bond and debenture interest and federal and provincial taxes, and after providing for dividends on stocks ranking prior to the stocks and shares proposed to be acquired by British Columbia Power Corporation, Limited, but before provision for depreciation, were as follows:

Year ended June 30th, 1925	$2,895,401
Year ended June 30th, 1926	3,104,496
Year ended June 30th, 1927	3,383,808

Based upon earnings for nine months ended March 31st, 1928, as reported by Messrs. Price, Waterhouse and Company, it is estimated that combined earnings for the completed twelve months ending June 30, 1928, after all prior charges, including depreciation and available for dividends on the stocks and shares proposed to be acquired by British Columbia Power Corporation, Limited, will be $2,000,000. It is confidently expected that the earnings of the company will continue to show substantial growth, and based on developments now underway it is conservatively estimated that corresponding combined net earnings for the fiscal year ending June 30th 1929, will substantially exceed those of the current fiscal year.

TERRITORY SERVED: The territory served embraces an area of over 1,500 square miles with a population of over 375,000. Vancouver is the fourth largest city in Canada, and, with its adjacent municipalities, has experienced consistent and rapid growth. The city is the financial, commercial and distributing centre for the province of British Columbia, and is one of the most important sea ports on the Pacific Coast. As a result, the city and the surrounding area, known as Greater Vancouver, is regarded as one of the most prosperous communities in Canada. The development of Western Canada has an important bearing upon the growth of Vancouver as an ocean port. The city has direct steamship connection with Australia, New Zealand and the Orient and, since the completion of the Panama Canal Vancouver has developed communications of growing importance with New York and other Atlantic ports of the Americas, as well as with those of Europe and Africa.

After providing funds sufficient to pay for all of the above-mentioned stocks and shares outstanding, if acquired, there will remain in the treasury of British Columbia Power Corporation, Limited, cash in excess of $2,500,000. In addition, as at March 31st, 1928, working capital of British Columbia Electric Railway Company, Limited, and subsidiary companies was in excess of $4,000,000.

THEATRES

AT THE RIALTO

The thrills of New York, Chicago, and Frisco, which have recently found their way to the screen, are now to be replaced by the thrills of the biggest city in the world, London. For "Beyond London's Lights", from J. J. Bell's popular novel, "Kitty Carstairs" is to be brought to the Rialto theatre screen on Thursday for three days. As readers of the novel will recall, Rural England and London are the scenes in which this powerful drama of tradition pitted against youth of love struggling against the insurmountable barriers of cast and custom is enacted. The story centres around Kitty Carstairs, pretty country girl, daughter of the village postmaster, in love with and loved by the young lord of the manor.

"Ranger of the North", the added feature on the program, is the story of a dog who is suddenly transferred from his easy life in civilization to the Northern wilderness of Canada. There he leads a life of adventure and struggle with his natural enemies, men and beasts. Through his unusual gallantry and devotion, the dog saves his master from a brutal Indian, and his ferocious wolf dog.

Teddy Sullivan, Komical Karacter Komedian and Wing Chong will appear on the stage twice daily at 3 and 8:45 p.m. in an entirely new change of program.

AT THE PANTAGES

An hilarious farce comedy, light and frothy as befitting the summery weather, is an apt description of "She Walked In Her Sleep", the vehicle which the Gordinier Players are presenting all this week at the Pantages theatre. The regular Wednesday and Saturday matinees will be given, and, in addition, the popular dramatic stock company will be seen in an extra matinee on the afternoon of Victoria Day, May 24. The Gordinier Players have appeared in comedies of every description since opening their long Edmonton engagement, but it is doubtful if more laughter has ever been prevalent at the Pantages theatre than is greeting the current offering.

The action of the story centres around a young lady who has the distressing, but oftentimes amusing failing of walking in her sleep. Living as she does, in a fashionable family hotel, her parading in the stilly hours of the night, sometimes lightly clad, leads to some situations that are provocative of merriment. The entire cast becomes embroiled in the complications but, like all good plays, the author, Mark Swan, has been good enough to extricate everyone from his or her troubles before the final curtain falls.

There are still good seats available for the remaining performances and these can be secured in advance by application at the box office.

AT THE CAPITOL

What was lost in the stage play has been amply made up in the screen production of that celebrated Sardou drama, "Captain Ferreol," now being shown under the title of "A Night of Mystery" at the Capitol theatre.

Adolphe Menjou is the star of this Paramount picture, and presents a fine characterization, as the dashing Captain Ferreol, of the French-African Chausseurs, the idol of women but an admirer of only one.

The tale centres about the love of Captain Ferreol for the beautiful Therese D'Egremont, and the admiration of Gilberte Boismartel, a married woman, for Ferreol. Ferreol spurns the latter's attentions, but one night while visiting her in her boudoir, he sees a man murdered. The slayer has seen the love tryst, and threatens to tell all he knows if Ferreol accuses him. Later, the brother of Therese is tried for the killing. Ferreol must keep his silence or ruin the reputation of Gilberte, the wife of the judge hearing the case. If he does remain silent, he will break the heart of the girl he loves.

That situation brings about a thrilling climax, enacted as only a star of Menjou's magnitude and ability could do it.

The Keystone Duo, Wyatt and Gavin in harmony and banjo selections and Capitolians are added attractions.

AT THE EMPRESS

Tod Browning, screen director, proved a fairy godfather to three film Cinderellas during the making of Lon Chaney's latest Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer starring vehicle, "The Big City," which is being featured today at the Empress theatre. For three Hollywood girls, part of a cabaret dancing scene, assembled and trained by the director, have been launched on the road to screen fame as a result of the picture.

They are Betty Egan, Dolores Brinkman and Delia Peterson. These were part of a bevy of girls chosen for the dancing chorus in the scenes showing a modern New York night club in the picture.

AT THE PRINCESS

Excellent treatment of an unusually good type of story makes "The Devil's Saddle," the feature picture at the Princess theatre, one of the outstanding western screen dramas to adorn a local screen for a long time.

The Charles R. Rogers Company, producers of the outdoor drama, which brings Ken Maynard back with a new bag of dare-devil riding tricks, are to be complimented on its judgment in making a western drama. Directors have escaped the temptation of using the crude devices which so many westerns have shown lately.

"The Devil's Saddle" is an exceptionally suitable story to exploit the handsome Maynard. It concerns the pioneer days of the west, but doesn't involve the conventional happenings of a hero and girl which has been told and retold in pictures of the early settlers' days.

AT THE DREAMLAND

AT THE MONARCH

A spectacular, forceful depiction of the hectic days on the Galician-Russian border just after the outbreak of the war in 1914 is the theme of Universal's impressive love drama, "Surrender!" which is now at the Monarch theatre.

Ivan Mosjukine, who was previously seen in "Michael Strogoff," is considerably improved in "Surrender!", not in acting ability, for he is superb, but in technical points such as better make-up. The story itself is unwound with a masterful smoothness which reflects to the great credit of Edward Sloman, the director.

An Ounce of Prevention

—Now, will prevent hot weather casualties. Chemists and doctors admit that there is still a great deal to be learned about the human skin. For those whose skins are susceptible to burning, over exposure to the hot sun is oft-times dangerous. Others merely tan, which is not painful, but at the same time is hard on the skin, if it is allowed to tan too quickly. A little cream or powder applied BEFORE may save considerable bleaches and worry AFTER—the outing.

If You Play Around Water

—the small drops of water, clinging to the skin, act almost as magnifying glasses, concentrating the rays on that point. Nature then calls into force, coloring matter to appear below the surface of the skin, thus preventing the ultra-violet rays from penetrating too deeply. Thus tan and freckles appear.

This, however, may be counteracted. A generous coating of cream and powder form a screen for these light rays, and thus Nature is not called upon to produce the color pigment. Therefore one may enjoy a swim, or a paddle without the pain of sunburn or the inconvenience of tan or freckles.

The Same Thing Applies

—to those who motor, hike, play tennis or golf, or any one of a number of outdoor sports. The sun and wind together play havoc with the complexion and an "ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

After returning home the face should be thoroughly cleansed with a cold cream—but do not rub it in. Lay it on gently, and then remove with a soft cloth and the dust, with the cream and powder already applied will be immediately removed. Then when the skin has cooled considerably, a wash in soft water and a mild soap will remove all trace of the previous exertion.

In order to stimulate the skin, a tissue cream should then be applied and allowed to remain on for a few hours, in order to build up the tissues.

Should it, however, be impossible to spend this amount of time, a foundation cream should be applied with a fine coating of powder, and milady is then ready for the dance, the tea—or whatever attracts her attention in the hours following.

in the scent milady uses. A few drops, discreetly applied, radiate the spirit of youth which fascinates and captivates. A delicate touch of scent creates a sense of romance—which, of all a woman's moods, is the loveliest.
